Speculation Centers On Spanish General's Visit

By KINGSBURY SMITH
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—Considerable interest was aroused in diplomatic circles in Washington today by the disclosure that Spanish generalissimo Francisco Franco is sending one of his leading pro-Allied generals on a visit to this country.

The Spanish embassy confirmed reports that Gen. Juan Beigbeder, a member of the Spanish general staff and former foreign minister, will arrive in the United States within a few days.

Purpose Not Disclosed

Purpose of Beigbeder's visit is not being disclosed for the present However he is noted for his American and British sympathies. His friendly attitude toward thies country and Great Britain was considered to be one of the main reasons why he lost his job as foreign minister of Spain in 1940, at a time when the pro-Nazi elements were riding high in that country.

Beigbeder also was a former high commissioner of Spanish Morocco and it is thought that his visit may have some bearing on the North African situation. Spain has been maintaining a large army in Spanish Morocco, a fact which has caused some concern in official quarters in Washington.

There has been a good deal of speculation in diplomatic circles over the danger of Hitler moving through Spain and across the Straits Gibraltar into Spanish Morocco to outflank the American forces in North Africa. The more assurances this government receives that Spain and its North African protectorate will resist any such attempt, the better American officials will feel.

Eighth Army May Be Opening Attack On Rommel's Last Stronghold

WEATHER HINDERS PLANE ACTIVITIES

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)

CAIRO, Feb. 19—British artillery today battered the forward defenses of the Axis held Mareth line in the Medenine area of Tunisia in what appeared to be the opening of an assault to smash the fortifications held by forces of Nazi General Field Marshall Erwin Rommel.

Batteries of the defending Afrika Korps returned the fire.

At the southern end of the "Little Maginot" fortifications other units of Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's Eighth army occupied the town of Foum Tatahouine.

Weather Unfavorable

Unfavorable weather hindered operations of allied air forces over the fighting area as the Eighth Army ground forces closed in to give battle.

The Middle East High command communique reporting the action revealing that Allied torpedo planes Wednesday night sank a medium-sized Axis merchant ship northwest of Sicily.

Intruder planes soared over the Italian mainland where they attacked and damaged locomotives west of Taranto, on the inside of the heel.

Other aircraft started fires and shot up Axis motor transports between the Ports of Sousse and Sfax on the east coast of Tunisia.

Col. Benjamin F. Evans, acting director, said all registrants between the ages of 18 and 45 must under the law carry both registration and classification cards.

Comdr. W. R. Smith, Jr. of national selective service headquarters has outlined plans for cooperation between draft boards and law enforcement agencies to reduce delinquencies to a minimum, Evans said.

Army To Have 7,500,000 Men By Year's End

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—President Roosevelt disclosed today that the size of the United States army had been determined last fall and would total 7,500,000 men by December 31, 1943.

The President told his press conference that the figure was decided upon six months ago and he did not understand why there was all this talk about it now.

Mr. Roosevelt added, however, that he could not predict the size the army would grow to in 1943, because plans would not be worked out until some time in the fall of this year.

Mr. Roosevelt said that the final determination on the size of the army had been made by him after talking with all the military and munitions planners.

Asked if the total strength of the armed forces was still projected to be 10,800,000 including Navy, Marines, Coast Guard and auxiliaries, the President replied that the figure was approximately right and had not been changed.

He revealed, however, that in planning the 1943 size of the army there were some people who wanted a total of 10,000,000, 12,000,000 and even 13,000,00 by the end of this year.

New Blows Against Japan Planned On Road To Philippines And Tokyo

NEW COMMANDER KNOWS PHILIPPINES

By JOSEPH A. BORS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—Backing America's aerial offensive in the South and Southwest Pacific, a new U. S. army—the sixth—today is poised in the Australian area for new blows against Japan on the long road to the Philippines and Tokyo.

In command of this newly-organized army is a tough, able veteran of two previous wars—Lieut. Gen. Walter Krueger—who knows the Philippines because he spent a year mapping the Archipelago.

Forcing Japs Back

Krueger's appointment comes, significantly, at a time when American and United Nations forces in New Guinea are forcing the Japs back toward Salamaua, and U. S. land, sea and air forces are tightening their firm grip on the Southern Solomons.

It also comes at a time when plans are being mapped in Washington and the war zones for new surprise blows against Japan, probably by land, sea and air throughout the Pacific and in China.

Promised Return

The fact that the move to organize the Sixth Army headed by Krueger was suggested by Gen. Douglas MacArthur, supreme com-

Greater Aid To China May Result From Visit To U. S. Of Mme. Chiang

By ARTHUR F. HERMANN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—Greater material aid to China and possible revision of United Nations grand strategy were viewed as distinct probalities by informed government officials today as outgrowths of Madame Chiang Kai-shek's visit to Washington.

In the short space of 24 hours in the nation's capital Madame Chiang was seen as having fully convinced an enthusiastic congress of the necessity of prosecuting the war against Japan immediately, rather than to subordinate this task to the conquering of Germany and Italy.

Outlines Necessity

As she outlined this necessity in an unprecedented address before the house of representatives, it received one of the most stirring ovations ever given by that legislative body.

Likewise, in an extemporaneous address to the senate, her intent and applauding audience gave undeniable indication of its sympathies with Chinese problems and China's aims.

British Bombers Make Attack On Wilhelmshaven During Night

(International News Service)

LONDON, Feb. 19.—RAF bombers carried out a heavy attack on the North German port of Wilhelmshaven during the night, the Air ministry announced today.

British bombers were over the Nazi submarine base and construction center in good weather.

It was admitted that four of the RAF planes failed to return to their bases.

The Berlin radio admitted that British bombers were over the Helgoland Bight but declared that the raiders dropped their bombs "at random."

Objectives in Western Germany were battered less than 24 hours before by a force of bombers which returned to England without a single loss.

Axis communications lines and ground targets in both France and Belgium had been attacked earlier in the day by squadrons of RAF fighter planes.

Speedy mosquito bombers at the same time made assaults on railways in the Tours area.

Rommel's Attack Appears To Have Spent Itself For Time Being

AMERICANS HOLD LINE IN MOUNTAINS

Bad Weather Hampers Ground Operations, Allied Headquarters Reports Today

By ROBERT G. NIXON
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, In North Africa, Feb. 19.—Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's attack in southern Tunisia appeared to have spent itself for the time being today, and fighting slackened after four days of unrelenting violence.

An official communique diclosed there was virtually no activity on the ground yesterday. Bad weather hampered all operations.

It was believed, however, that the Germans have gained their main objectives after a smashing victory against gallant but outnumbered American forces. Rommel now holds a wide corridor in southern Tunisia stretching from the sea to the high range of mountains that run from west of Pichon to Tebessa, which lies 90 miles to the southwest and 12 miles inside the Algerian border.

Japanese Are Attacking On Yangtze River

(International News Service)

CHUNGKING, Feb. 19.—More than 20,000 Japanese troops, including marines, are attacking along both banks of the Yangtze river in northern Kiangsu province, a Chinese communique announced today.

Behind an aerial cover, they are driving toward the towns of Shangkanshang, Fengutuan and Chechiachang.

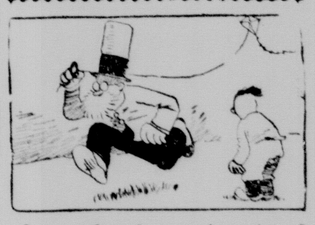

Other Japanese forces in Yunnan province have received 10,000 reinforcements from the Jap stronghold at Lashio in Burma and are attacking in Western Yunnan in several directions.

The communique said there were "heavy casualties on both sides after 24 hours of bloody combat."

Fighting continues in four other provinces—Hupeh, Hunan, Kwangtung and Kiangsi. There have been no Japanese gains following landings in the harbors of Tungming and Luichow in the Kwangchow bay area, but enemy gunboats lying off the shore now number 15.

The Yunnan action, it was said, might be the forerunner of a Japanese effort to take Kunming and attempt to isolate Chungking.

Blame Engine Fire For Crash

MANY OF PLANT EMPLOYES HURT

(International News Service)

SEATTLE, Wash., Feb. 19.—Fire that developed in one engine of a four-motored Flying Fortress during a test flight was blamed today by Boeing Aircraft officials for the crash of the huge craft into a Seattle packing plant yesterday in which at least 12 persons were killed.

All 11 members of the plane's crew, including Edmund T. Allen, famed Boeing test pilot, lost their lives in the crash, and one plant employe was known to have perished in the flames that followed as the bomber's fuel tanks exploded and spread death and destruction throughout the building.

May Be 14 Dead

There was fear that the death toll would rise to 14. Of the eight bodies recovered, six were identified and it was believed two others were those of plant workers.

Thirteen persons, including firemen and plant employes, were injured by the blaze and company officials said 12 workers were unaccounted for. It was believed, however, that many of the missing had reached safety.

Witnesses said the plane, its two port motors dead and trailing smoke, was attempting to reach the Boeing field for a crash landing when it struck power lines and then smashed into the plant slaughter house.

Four crew members attempted to parachute from the stricken plane, but the craft was too low and there was not time for their chutes to open.

It was increasingly apparent that her stay at the White House, and for that matter her entire trip to the United States, has as its principal aim the procurement of greatly increased lend-lease aid for China. There were also plain indications that, in an effort to bring about more active prosecution of the war against Japan, she would use all her powers of persuasion to win President Roosevelt over to the necessity of revising grand strategy plans for winning the war.

Nazi Propaganda Policy In Dispute

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—Dr. Joseph Goebbels, Nazi propaganda minister, and D.N.B., official German news agency, are at loggerheads over propaganda policy, the British radio reported today.

In a broadcast heard by CBS, London said D.N.B. had demanded suppression of the passage in the Goebbels address of Thursday painting a gloomy picture of the German plight in Russia.

The passage which D.N.B. insisted be deleted was:

REPORT RUSSIAN TROOPS LAND ON BLACK SEA COAST

were believed to be massed at Novorissisk in the hope that they could escape by sea to the Crimea.

Smash Toward Orel

Moscow, Feb. 19.—The Germans have had to reinforce their hard-pressed armies on the Russian front with armed police, the Soviet high command disclosed today as Red army troops continued to surge forward at both ends of the 600-mile battle line.

Soviet armies at the northern end of the southern front smashed their way forward to within less than 30 miles of Orel, last remaining defense basion on the German winter line, and pressed steadily westward from Rostov toward the sea of Azov port of Taganrog.

Nazi prisoners taken in the persistent drive west of Rostov declared that the 403rd German security division, reinforced with police, recently had been thrown into battle, the high command noon communique said. Despite these desperate measures, it was added, the division was routed by onrushing Soviet troops.

Reported Retreating

Remnants of the division were said to be retreating in disorder Guerilla fighters persistently harassed the disordered flight of the enemy.

Several more localities were reported to have fallen back into Soviet hands in successful offensive operations around Rovenki, 60 miles north of Rostov, were both prisoners and war material were seized.

Two companies of Nazi infantry on another sector of the front near Rovenski were encircled and annihilated.

Midway between Rostov and captured Kharkov to the north the Germens attempted several counter-attacks in the Kramatorsk area but were repelled with great losses.

Another counter-attack was attempted west of Kharkov by the remnants of two regiments supported by tanks.

"Our motorized infantry dealt a blow from the flank and rear, killing 300 and repelling the counter-attack," the high command said.

Prisoners Taken

North of Kursk where the Russians are closing in on Orel a Red army formation gained control of 10 more inhabited localities from which the Germans were ousted.

Simultaneously other Russian forces cut the railroad line from Taganrog to the Donets Basin, threatening the escape of thousands of Axis troops almost encircled in the area between Stalino and Voroshilovgrad, and closed in on German and Satellite divisions trapped in the Caucasus between the port of Novorossisk and the Kerch peninsula.

(Berlin reported that thaws had made quagmires of the roads and had slowed down the Russian advances. But the fighting has increased in intensity, said Berlin particularly in the Kharkov district.)

Scores of additional towns and villages fell to the Russians in Thursday's fighting, said the Soviet midnight communique. In the area west of Novo-Shaktinsk, 40 miles north of Rostov, 60 inhabited localities were cleared of enemy forces.

Other towns were taken in the Orel and Kursk areas, west of Kharkov, in the Taganrog and Donets Basin districts and in the western Caucasus around Krasnodar.

NAZI DRIVE IN TUNISIA HAS BEEN HALTED

en after decisive action by American tanks—the offensive has now been halted."

(Reuter also quoted a French communique as stating that a German infantry attack supported by tanks had been repelled in the Bad-jeb El Aioun area, 20 miles southwest of Pichon. Heavy losses were said to have been inflicted on the Nazis.)

The armored battles on the central front continued on a reduced scale after the Americans withdrew from Feriana, Kasserine and Sbeitla in the face of persistent German tank and infantry assaults supported by dive-bombers.

As United States ground forces retired to more easily defended hill positions planes of the American 12th Air Forces hammered relentlessly at the German columns moving up over the flatlands.

(The Nazi-controlled Paris radio said that American forces, pursued by dive-bombers, were falling back toward Tebessa following new German gains.)

In Hill Country

Tired but not discouraged after their first large-scale engagement with Rommel's forces, American forces today took up their battle positions in the rugged hill country.

They hold high vantage points that command the sprawling, open plains from which they retired under Rommel's smashing and aerial attacks. They are astride the key passes that dominate the route to Tebessa and the exit from the plains of Kasserine.

These rugged, scrub-covered mountains rise from the plains to crests as high as 3,000 and 4,000 feet. The Americans have thus been able not only to shorten their lines to a third of what they were, but to make them much easier to defend.

Casualties Heavy

It still is too early to obtain an accurate estimate of German losses in the attack, because they struck American units in overwhelming force along a far-flung battle line and completely overran some American positions.

However, it is unlikely that German casualties were anything like those suffered by the Americans both in men and material.

In one instance an American unit knocked out 20 German tanks and in another they accounted for four of the new 56-ton German Mark VI behemoths.

The American line now is believed to be stabilized on the hills protecting Tebessa and the comparatively open country to the west.

Nazi Concentrations Pounded

Large concentrations of German vehicles were pounded on the roadway between Feriana and Sbeitla. The American airmen also blasted a railway bridge and a highway bridge. Strong sorties sailed into enemy held airdromes in an effort to weaken the Axis air power.

The withdrawal by the Americans from the plains of central Tunisia was effected after they suffered heavy casualties in four days of unremitting armored battles. No estimates were released immediately on the total of casualties inflicted on the Germans, but those suffered by the Americans admittedly were high.

Retirement of the American forces enabled them to take up positions where they now hold key passes in the hills west of Kasserine on the approaches to Tebessa, 12 miles inside of Algeria.

The retreat allowed Nazi Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's 10th and 21st panzer divisions to widen their corridor from the east coast of Tunisia a distance of 60 miles on the south and 50 miles on the north.

Some Americans Cut Off

It was revealed that some American units had been cut off at Sidi Bou Zid when the Germans renewed their drive after being repulsed a distance of six miles in fierce battles west of Faid Pass. Many were believed to have escaped entrapment but had to abandon considerable equipment.

Observers at Allied headquarters believed that Rommel had achieved his immediate objective and this accounted in part for the slowing down in hostilities.

While Rommel now has to cope with more complicated supply problems, the Americans have the advantage of time to regroup their forces and await reinforcement by armored units of the British First Army being rushed south to their assistance.

Early support also was expected from the British Eighth Army now assembled before the fortified Mareth line in the extreme southeast of Tunisia. This force which successfully drove Rommel out of Egypt and Libya was expected to smash forward at any time against the Mareth line or attempt a flanking move to strike at Rommel's rear.

(A German radio broadcast quoted a dispatch by DNB, official German news agency, as stating that the Eighth Army had launched an attack on Rommel's southern flank on a broad front.)

The Eighth Army, under command of Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery, was in position at Medenine and Foum Tatahouine at both ends of the Mareth fortifications.

NEW U. S. ARMY POISED TO STRIKE IN PACIFIC AREA

mander of United Nations forces in the Southwest Pacific, may mean he is getting set to expand his sphere of operations.

When MacArthur left the Philippines 11 months ago, he promised to "return" in triumph and there has been no indication since that time that he intends to waiver in that objective.

Selection of Krueger to head the Sixth Army undoubtedly is a step in that direction, and in the general direction of Tokyo.

Krueger knows the Philippines through service there at the turn of the century and he learned much about the Archipelago's scattered islands during the year he spent mapping them.

SHIFT OF SUBMARINES

EVACUATION of the Brest-Lorient areas of the northwestern French coast by the Nazis signifies a removal to other points of those important submarine bases which have been bombed virtually out of existence. It has been suggested that at least one big base may be established on the south coast of France at Marseilles. Perhaps another will be at Taranto in southern Italy or somewhere in Greek waters.

This shifting of Nazi submarine bases from the Atlantic coast to the Mediterranean indicates a conviction in Berlin that a grand scale movement of the Allies into southern Europe impends. Hitler may be preparing to throw into its pathway the only offensive sea force at his command, the U-boats.

Prime Minister Churchill's statement that the Allies are gaining rapidly on the U-boats reveals the hopelessness of Hitler's efforts in the Mediterranean. He may delay and damage a large Allied expedition across that sea to Europe, but he can not prevent it. Time is running against Hitler.

What the landing point or points of the Allies will be when they get into motion cannot be predicted authoritatively, but the Churchill visit to Turkey suggests strong possibility of something happening in that quarter. In World War I Churchill initiated a large scale campaign against Turkey, then on Germany's side. He felt then that the strategic position of Turkey warranted large risks. The campaign a quarter of a century ago failed.

It is conceivable that Churchill is still impressed with Turkey as the short route to Germany's defeat and that he will do what he can to advance victoriously through the Dardanelles, a feat that he could not accomplish in the last war.

NEW TREND IN FOOD

Commercially, dehydration of food is making progress and will continue to score gains, at least for the duration of the war. Factories for drying foods are multiplying as the old method of preservation by canning fades before the tin shortage. It is announced that some time this year a home dehydrator will be placed on the market.

Research men have done their work and at least one manufacturer is getting into action. The device will be a sleek, mass-produced cabinet which plugs into a wall socket like a radio. The smaller dehydrator is designed for town dwellers who expect to produce from small Victory gardens. Larger sizes will be made for farmers and truck gardeners.

Scattered throughout the country are hundreds of canneries that are dependent upon a supply of tin cans. They are especially numerous in the South. Tin cans are no longer available to meet their demand. It is proposed to convert many of these canneries into dehydration plants.

Those connected with the dehydration program assert that Americans will consume all the dehydrated food they are permitted to buy. In World War I dried fruits and vegetables often were tough, usually lacked flavor and sometimes acquired unpleasant flavors and odors. Vast improvements have been made in flavor, color and nutriment.

Dehydrated foods will be popular from the start, and it is impossible that the demand for various staples in this form will continue after the war. Tastes that are easily acquired often become permanent.

NOT VOLUNTARY WITHDRAWAL

Since the fall of 1941 the Nazis have held the great industrial city of Kharkov, the Soviet Pittsburgh, as the vital base for their temporarily triumphant onslaught against South Russia. Its capture, coupled with the preceding recovery of Rostov, is more than a morale builder for the victorious Red Armies.

Only a month ago a captured German officer told Paul Winterton, BBC correspondent in Moscow, "The Russian offensive is not a victory. We are retreating voluntarily. We shall make a stand at Rostov and the Russians will never capture the city." It is to be assumed that the Nazis must have been even more certain they would maintain their positions in Kharkov.

How far the plunging Red tide can continue westward is unpredictable. But the unnamed Nazi officer, and perhaps many other Nazi leaders, have been confounded.

Paraphrasing Lincoln, the Don flows unvexed to the Sea of Azov. The oil of the Caucasus is denied to Adolf Hitler. Can his intuition or the utmost astuteness of his generals determine whether the Dnieper itself will now give them a safe and certain line of defense? Nazi smugness can't discount the victorious quality of the Russian offensive. Their worry is how to prevent more disastrous retreats.

TIRE EXAMINATION

Criticisms of the OPA requirement for periodic tire inspection are answered by announcement that, in one large area, half of the spare tires sold to the government were found good only for scrap.

For the country as a whole, the OPA reports that 400,000 passenger car tires have been rescued through regular inspections. A few more miles of driving would have ruined each beyond reclamation. Many tires were found to have flaws which, if undiscovered, would quickly have developed into ruinous defects.

Tires have ceased to be our purely personal headaches. They have become a national asset, if saved, or a national liability, if wasted.

People are not complaining yet about the butter shortage. But wait until the roasting ear season comes around!

The high command at Berlin is not giving the German people much news about what is transpiring on the Russian front. Doubtless on the theory that what you don't know won't hurt you.

It is said that the Chinese character depicting the word "war" shows two women under one roof. The latest symbol for war in America is a lot of women under the roof of the machine works.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

CHILD HURT BY DIVORCE OF PARENTS

Defenseless children of teen age suffer most when their parents are divorced.

We parents who live companionably in a home where there is relative emotional security must know how our own children above eight or twelve years of age worry and suffer if they suppose we have violated some convention or won rebuke from their playmates or playmates' parents.

How immeasurably more would our children suffer if they saw us parents in constant quarrels or mutual discourtesies; or if they heard others talk about us.

Child Feels Insecure

After a divorce, suppose the child spends some time with one of the parents, some with the other, and is fed the while with words of bitterness and hate by each about the other, with the relatives of both sides generously adding their bitter bit. He will feel insecure and unhappy.

Of course, we must admit that there are some parents remaining together whose strained relations or open conflicts make life even more miserable to the child than if they were separated.

In any event, I wish the parents always would try to consider the rights and feelings of the child, putting themselves in their imagination in his place. Doing so, each will have a strong motive to restrain himself or herself and adjust himself or herself more amicably to the other. Many parents who separate might have learned, for the child's sake, to get along fairly well together, if both had worked at it hard enough.

Protect Child

I wish, moreover, that those parents facing divorce would try to protect the child from as much suffering as possible. To keep tugging at the child's heartstrings and trying to engender hatred in him for the other parent is only to prolong his torture.

This and similar problems I discuss further in my book, "Marriage and Parenthood", which you probably will find in your public library.

A selected list of books on marriage, preparation for marriage and how to make a go of it, may be had without cost by writing me at 235 East 45th St., New York City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. My girl, eight years old, says "ain't". This annoys me very much.

A. Learn not to be annoyed by such trivial matters. Your daughter will eventually choose to speak good English if she finds increasing satisfaction from companionship with you and the other adults of the family and always hears good English from you and them.

One Man's Opinion

Flash—So what!

Take Cleopatra—ah what an idea—could she have charmed Antony in a wind breaker with holes in the elbows?

Ah no my friends . . . there are some things we don't talk about. Take the case of Miss A. —Single, 26, blonde, a welder making $382 a week. Would you have her come to work in her mother's cardigan jacket?

If she can afford an angora snuggule-smoothie, she deserves one. Shall we say to her "looka here Miss A.—if that's your nom de plume—from now on and hitherto when you get here in the morning saw yourself into a burlap toga. Else how can we hope to win an "A" for awful pennant?"

So what happens if Miss A complies with your dictum? The men start looking out the window. Miss A changes her tooth paste, switches to another soap and still she feels that something is wrong that even piano lessons won't help.

What Noted People Say

(International News Service)

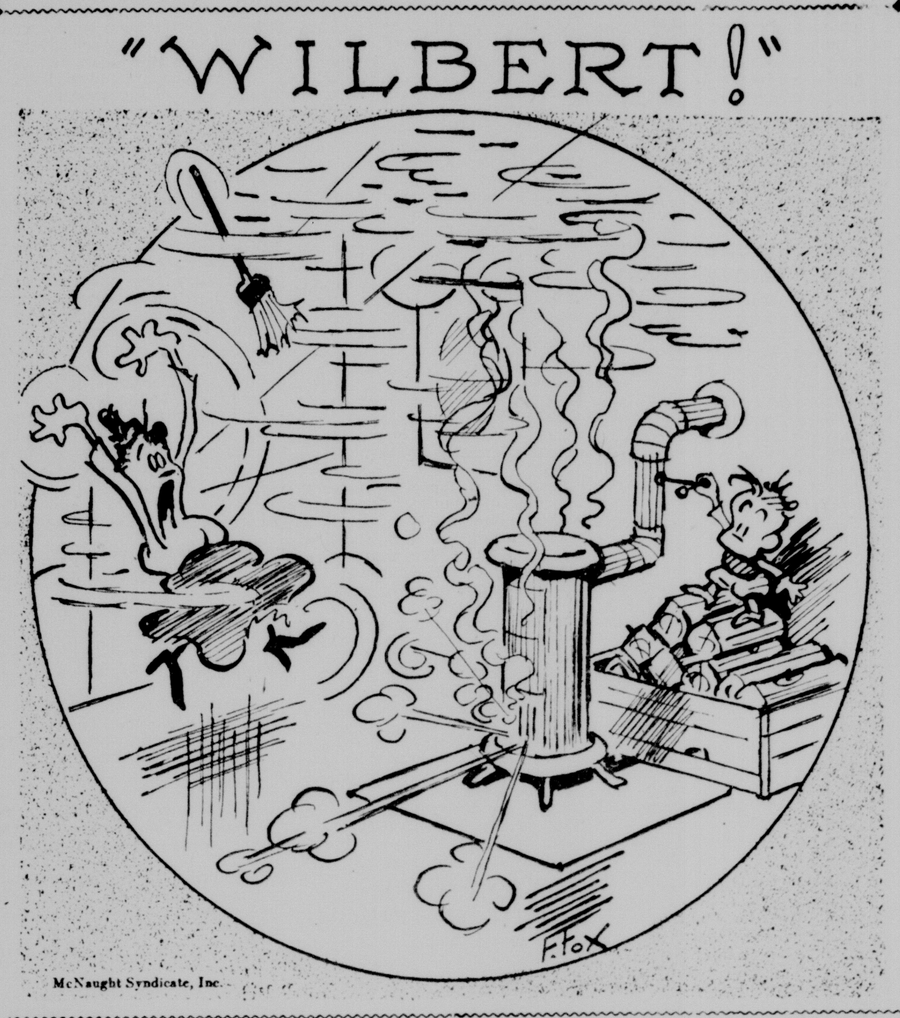

WASHINGTON — Walter Nash, New Zealand minister and Pacific war council spokesman: "We are going to hit Japan in a way that they don't dream of now."

NEW YORK — Vice Admiral Adolphus, commander of the eastern sea frontier: "There are too many crystal gazers in our country who, upon the first semblance of success, immediately talk about the war ending within the next few months."

PHILADELPHIA — A. Lincoln Myers, draft board appeal agent: "We feel an absentee is a slacker working in a defense plant to keep from going into the service."

WASHINGTON — Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt endorses military training after the war: "I am in favor of a year of service for all young peoples—for girls and boys like, basic military training included."

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 6:40. Sun rises tomorrow 7:48.

Live your life so that people will listen to what you say.

There is some opposition to the Pennsylvania auto license tax of $10 for each car. Not, however, from the owners of big cars.

When a night club burns down suspicion immediately goes to some carelessly thrown cig butt.

A judge was hearing a divorce action. "Now tell me about the marital relations," said the judge. "Were they pleasant?" "Pleasant enough, your honor, but they wanted to live on me all the time," said the husband.

You can tell when love is dead. They don't care how they look when nobody else is around.

Gals are not allowed to wear sweaters in some war plants. So far we have not heard of any reason for the order, but it must be on account of the kind of sweaters worn.

. . . then there was the young fellow who walked breezily into the doctor's office and was very effusive in praising how much he had benefitted from the doctor's treatment. But the doctor couldn't remember him so told him "You're not one of my patients." And the young man said: "I know, but my uncle was and I'm his heir."

The post office department will employ many women, but it does not want women mail carriers because women are not strong enough to carry half the load men mail carriers have to carry. Some of the gals might fool them if they get a chance.

True to Form—Auntie: "But what has your boy friend's army career got to do with him staring at every pretty girl he sees?"

Niece: "Oh, he's in the observation corps."

In many big cities hotels do not have so much complaint from guests now. Just getting any kind of a room is hard enough now without any looking or yapping about service.

In a Bad Way—"Did you hear about old absent-minded Professor Freezer?"

"Why, no."

"He looked in the directory to find out where he lived, and found he couldn't remember his name."

Very stout lady (to little boy)—Can you tell me if I can get through this gate to the park? Little boy: I guess so. A load of gravel has just gone through.

That fellow who used to say he was hungry enough to eat a horse, is explaining that he didn't mean it.

Next Stop—Oh, he's so romantic. When he addresses me he always calls me "Fair Lady."

Force of habit, my dear. He's a street car conductor.

He Knew His Stuff Too—The lady journalist and author had just been introduced to the Hollywood movie magnate, and wanted to make a hit with him by discussing literature cleverly, so she said:

"You know, Mr. Goldberg, I just love Keats."

"Dot's fine," he said. "I'm always glad to meet a young lady vot lofs children."

Where is that bird who said we were to have a mild winter?

It is reported that there is plenty of wool in this country. That is good, but we hope not much of it will be used to pull over people's eyes.

The Right Answer—Passenger in Union Station: "Porter what time does the last train leave for Chicago?"

Porter: "The last train? Mister you should live so long!"

Mrs. Roosevelt urged that women and youth be represented at the peace table. Well, it would mean some place to go.

Second Farmer—They ate mine in two days and then roosted in the trees to see if I'd plant some more.

Seed Merchant—That's nothing; there's a couple over there right now looking through my books to see who has ordered seed for this spring.

Everybody thinks their dog is the best dog in the world, even if it tries to eat them.

When it comes to doing things to help win the war the boys and girls of Lawrence county are right on the job.

There are a lot of vacant lots in New Castle that would make good war gardens. And they would look better than having weeds in them.

Clever Salesgirl—Floorwalker: "I noticed that your last customer did not buy anything, but he seemed very pleased. What did he want to see?"

Salesgirl: "Me, at 8 o'clock this evening."

LONELINESS OF MIDDLE AGE

"My children are growing up and I find my domestic duties slackening. Can you suggest any means by which I can escape the kind of loneliness that makes so many middle-aged women embittered and meddlesome in the affairs of their children?"—Mother.

Answer: Cling to your old friends and make as many new ones as possible. Join clubs and become as active in them as possible, assuming duties that will excite your interest and occupy your mind. During this period of world upheaval, there are innumerable charitable and relief organizations that will welcome your services at their headquarters and will apportion to you home work that will keep you busy. But I advise that as far as possible you assume duties that will take you out of home ruts. Make yourself proficient in bridge as it is a game leading to many social contacts. You are indeed wise in foreseeing the potential dangers of middle-age idleness.

Question: Is is proper for a girl to announce her engagement without an engagement ring from her fiance? I am really engaged, but I have no ring. What must I do?—Louise.

Answer: I think if you do so you will put yourself in an embarrassing position. Everyone will look in vain at the third finger of your left hand. The only thing you can do is to announce to your friends that you will be married soon. This will pass the news around by the grapevine system. They always do! Make no general announcement of your engagement.

Tomorrow—Breaking Up Unfortunate Affair

Miss Markel will promptly mail personal answers to questions from any reader enclosing self-addressed 3-cent stamped envelope.

Immovable—"You'd better take a taxi home, sir."

"S'no use, ole boy. I took a diamond brashlet 'ome last time, but the wife pitched me out just the same!"

"I do not wish to create envy," said a South Side man, "but I can't help bragging that we had a soup bone last night."

We have noticed that a lot of people waste light and water when it is being paid for by some other person.

Deacon: "Brother Jones, what am de status quo?"

Pastor: "Dat, Brother Brown, am Latin for de mess we're in."

Of course people have the right to wear the kind of clothes they want to wear, even if they do make other people laugh.

After reading of the great number of people who have been burned to death in their homes in this country this winter, it's a good idea to try to keep your own home safe.

Return "Male"—Manager: "Didn't you read the letter I sent you?"

Office Boy: "Yes, sir, I read it inside and outside. On the inside it said: 'You are fired,' and on the outside it said: 'Return in five days', so here I am."

Snappy—He: "Do you like simple things?"

She: "Are you proposing?"

Ignore facts if they conflict with your theories. All Americans are equal, therefore your ideas are as good as anyone's.

It is important to have two sides to every question. Otherwise there would be no compromises.

Misunderstanding—Mrs. Browne (to prospective maid): "Have you any references?"

"What references?"

"I stated clearly in my advertisement: 'excellent references'."

"Oh, that? I thought that applied to you!"

Never before, and hopefully never again, will this country get into a war that requires as many bookkeepers as soldiers.

When a leader demands something to benefit the people, first discover how much it will benefit him.

We'd better learn about Central America. It can make us free of the Orient for all time if we are smart.

When the Russians finally take Berlin and hang Hitler, the dispatches doubtless will begin: "The Russians claim."

The point American Reds overlook is that Russia's people were striving to get what Americans have had for generations.

A boy of 11 killed a playmate to get his wrist watch. Fascism starts early.

Deducting taxes from wages is merely the check-off—except that Uncle Sam gets the money instead of a labor boss.

A swell hotel is one where the rich cheerfully pay $30 for a $3 room because that price keeps out the riff-raff.

Free land: One where the government forces miners to pay dues to Lewis or lose their right to work.

Foreign sailors should not judge Americans by the way we act now. We're much snootier in time of peace.

The world was built in seven days. You see, it wasn't necessary to wait on some bureaucrat's permission to use material.

United Nations Control Plan Growing
Many Countries Favor Some Such Idea
Only Argentina Remains Lone Holdout

By CHARLES P. STEWART
(Central Press Columnist)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—Sentiment for United Nations joint control of the post-war economic world is gaining ground, unquestionably.

English statesmanship is toiling overtime for a preliminary agreement that this country will not be able to get out of, even if a few of our public men do regard it rather coldly when the time comes. A mere handful of them criticize it adversely already, but their number is inconsiderable. Canada has a regular commission in Washington working for international unanimity.

The Chinese concur. So do the Fighting French.

Of the 20 Latin American republics, 19 verge on a desire to join us as states, Argentina being the lone exception. And even the Argentina recalcitrants are showing signs of weakening lately. They couldn't afford to go it alone.

Russia, it is true, is a problem. Present-day Russians are a pretty queer people to reckon with.

About the only government that shows no post-war economic get-together inclination is Germany. And that can blow up suddenly. Let Adolf Hitler pop and there is no knowing how quickly the rest of the Reich will fall in line. They have gone it pretty rapidly before.

If, however, the United Nations do effect an economic combination, will they let the Germans in upon any share of it, no matter how thoroughly licked they may admit themselves to be?

Italy, yes—assuming that Benito is abolished, as he will be. That is a safe bet.

But Germany and Japan? They are not such good gambles.

It may take half a dozen centuries for the Germans to prove their good faith—the Japs forever.

It will be a nuisance to have them indefinitely on the sidelines, though—the Germans particularly because they always have been so much involved in our business relationships. So have the Japs, for that matter, but we can substitute the Chinese for them, once the Japs are thoroughly extinguished.

As previously remarked, the program has not very formidable opposition in Washington.

The administration approves it but there is a bit of discontent in Congress. A quartet of their legislative groups (Arkansas', Missouri's Kansas' and Oklahoma's) have formed a unit to fight what they call federalization of their local powers by the United States government. They say their states' rights are being encroached upon, particularly in the matter of international dickering.

Even this quartet, though, would not object to a merger of western hemispherical authorities—of course with Uncle Sam in the role of the dog that wags 20-odd tails.

The supposition is that Canada will be included in the caudal classification.

It is not assumed, to be sure, that the Canadians actually will be annexed by Uncle Samuel or that any of the Latin Americas will be taken on in so drastic a basis, but they might be absorbed on influential terms.

That would suit Arkansas, Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma, most likely some other states, probably the bulk of Latin America, and possibly Canada, but hardly England.

The Arkansas-Missouri-Kansas-Oklahoma theory is that London is trying to scoop post-war management from under Uncle Samuel's direction and consolidate it under John Bull's.

It is a prospect that ought to be considered very delicately from a new world as well as from an old world aspect. Maybe we can risk antagonizing the latter in moderation, but not the former. The OLD world will be too flat on its back to worry us for quite awhile, but the NEW one will be as healthy and strong as a young bear for a long time to come.

We have won most of it to our side, but we need to keep it attached to us.

If we do, we can make it a solid hemisphere. If we do, we can make it a compact of states. We must get Argentina in the setup. If we don't, we will antagonize those nations already aligned with us."

The World and the Mud Puddles

FROM ONE WHO KNOWS

When Herbert Hoover speaks of food and the problem of feeding a nation in wartime, he speaks from a wealth of experience. Perhaps no other man in the country has has more actual experience, or a more successful record of accomplishment along that line than has the former president. Certainly no one in the present administration can match it in that regard.

Therefore, Mr. Hoover's talk before the National Industrial Conference Board recently was a distinct contribution to the nation's knowledge on this vital problem. His talk was, perhaps, as significant for what he did not say as for that which he did say.

Mr. Hoover made no criticism of the administration nor its way of attempting to handle the current problem. But he did point out that in the last war this nation exported more than twice the quantity of meats and fat to its Allies than it is exporting now, and the shortage here to civilians then was nowhere comparable to the deficiencies we are experiencing today. The reason, of course is that we have allowed our flocks and herds to be depleted and we now have fewer animals per thousand population than we ever had before.

There, Mr. Hoover stopped. He said, at the beginning of his talk, that he did not propose to criticize anyone for that which already has been done. But to anyone who has watched the bewildering experiments in a managed economy and controlled production for the last few years, some of the reasons for today's problems are reasonably clear.

Even now, with shortages of almost every item of food, except cereals, staring us in the face, the administration is continuing in many sections of the country its idiotic system of subsidizing farmers for curtailing their production. In others it is demanding increased production of the same crops.

It is useless now to look back and criticize the slaughter a few years ago of pigs and cattle, not for food but to get them out of the way and off to market. However, we are paying for such stupidity now and will continue to pay for it for years to come.

The whole trouble, to which Mr. Hoover was too polite to point, is that the dictation of what this country can or will produce has been taken over by a group of theorists. They know little or nothing of the practical problems involved or the consequences that are bound to follow their tinkering. The only way to have an abundance is to produce it and then conserve it. It is not possible to gaze into a crystal ball or draw a blueprint in some Washington Bureau and then, when the emergency arrives, to transform taxpayers' money into food. The answer is to return to the American way of letting men of ability and experience run their own businesses and an abandonment of allowing theorists to dictate everything from Washington.

LOOKING AT LIFE

—By Erich Brandeis

The Russians ought to be ashamed of themselves!

Field Marshal Fatso Goering almost screamed in anger at the treachery and ungentlemanly conduct of Stalin and his armies.

Would you believe it, Ladies and Gentlemen, the Russians never told Hitler how strong they were!

They actually concealed their power in the war with Finland by using inferior equipment and letting the Germans think Russia couldn't lick the Finns.

What kind of monkey business is that, asks Goering.

Is that fighting like a chentleman, I ask you?

Everybody should know by now that Hitler never did anything underhanded. He never lied. He never broke a promise. He never did anything cruel in his life.

(Oh, that murdering of children? That killing of innocent hostages? That slave labor, that deportation of thousands of women for numeral purposes? Those unspeakable atrocities to Catholics and Jews? (Och, ja, dot iss from der horse an entirely different color. That is military necessity. And as long as it was done by der Nazis how can it be wrong?)

But imagine anybody having the nerve to fool Hitler and Goering and Goebbels!

If that sort of thing keeps up the Germans may possibly even lose the war, says Goering.

And then where will everybody be?

No new order, none of that beautiful Aryan "Kultur" that Hitler has promised to give us.

Just imagine—says Goering—what will happen if Germany loses!

Just freedom and peace, a free press, freedom to worship and freedom from want.

Under Roosevelt we'll have to live when we could have Hitler, that's what Goering threatens.

How could you have did it, Mr. Stalin—how could you be so cruel?

My heart goes out to Adolph Schickelgruber, that lovely man, who has been so cruelly deceived.

You did it—right in der Fuehrer's face!

RED CROSS MAN FOUND AHEAD OF FRONT LINE

By SGT. SAMUEL SHAFFER
U. S. Marine Corps Combat Correspondent
Distributed by International News Service

GUADALCANAL, Jan. 24—(Delayed)—Thomas S. Montgomery, 28, of Yuma, Ariz., an American Red Cross field director, was on one of his frequent trips to the front lines distributing cigarettes and matches when he went farther than he intended.

Wandering about in the jungle, Tiny, as he is known to the men of the regiment, met a troop of marines and offered them smokes.

"Say, fellow," he asked, "aren't we pretty close to the front lines now?"

They looked at him with astonishment. One marine said:

"Front lines, hell. They're a half mile behind us. This is a patrol."

As "Tiny" tells it:

"I couldn't go back because they told me the woods were full of Jap snipers. So I went along with them, ducked bullets and watched them wipe out a machine gun nest. I was glad to get back in one piece."

"Tiny's" nick-name is an understatement. He stands 6 feet 8½ inches in his stocking feet and weighs 275 pounds. Unable to enlist in any of the services because of his size, the Red Cross assured him he would be given a war zone assignment and here he is.

"Tiny" is as resourceful as he is careless about his own safety.

Wampum Amateurs Perform Wednesday

Amateur night at the Wampum High school Wednesday evening, February 24, promises to be a hilarious affair. Local amateur performers have been working on the program for weeks, so that their numbers may find favor in the eyes of the judges. In addition, there will be entertainment by radio artists on the KDKA musical clock program.

Wampum High school's mixed chorus, under the direction of Betty Boyer, music director, is sponsoring the show, which begins at eight o'clock. Members of the Wampum Women's club are to act as judges, and Wampum business people are contributing toward prizes for the amateurs.

The student committee in charge of the show consists of the following members of the school chorus: Paula Cavalies, Betty Karner, Betty Holler, Betty Beatrice, Mrs. Mielke and Frank Bennett.

According to Elizabeth West, Texas state librarian, "Texas is from the Indian word Tejas, meaning friends or allies. So far as I know, it has not an Aztec origin. It applied originally, in Indian usage, to the Indian tribes about the early Spanish missions around eastern Texas."

Polish Pictures At Cathedral Monday

Two great Polish films will be shown for one evening only at the Cathedral Theatre, Monday, February 22nd, starting at 7:30. The "Wiejekie Wesele," (The Peasant's Wedding), the first and only Polish feature film in natural colors. This presentation has created great interest among the Polish population, because it brings back memories to the older people of the world-famous Polish weddings and the young people would like to see this traditional festival when a young Polish girl gets married. The second film, entitled "Dzien Wielkiej Przgody," ("A Day of Great Adventure") is a patriotic story of a kidnaped Polish boy in the Carpathian mountains on the Polish and Slovak border. The despairing mother turns for help to the Polish Boy Scouts and after exciting complications the touching story ends happily. Beautiful Polish songs and magnificent photography make this an exceptionally outstanding production.

School Teachers Informed On Duties For Next Week's Registrations

SESSION IS HELD AT HIGH SCHOOL

Instructions in the registering of applicants for point ration books was given to the public school teachers of New Castle Thursday afternoon in the senior high school when a meeting was held in the school auditorium. The application form was explained, and the teachers told what to do in the matter of removing coupons for extra cans of foodstuffs reported by applicants.

New Castle residents will register on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of next week in the elementary schools of the city. All schools will be closed, including the junior and senior high schools, but the registering will be done only in the elementary schools.

One person can register for an entire family. It is necessary to have ration book number one for each member of the family, and these must be shown to the registrars. The application forms are not involved. One merely shows the name and number of the applicants, the number of pounds of coffee on hand on November 28, 1942, less one pound for each member of the family over 14, and the number of cans of foodstuffs on hand on the day of registration, less five cans each for every member of the family.

Foodstuffs which should be counted are all cans or bottles of fruits, vegetables, fruit juices, soups, baby foods, catsup and chili sauce. Cans of less than eight ounces need not be counted. Dried and frozen fruits must be counted. Pickles, olives, jellies, jams, canned meat and canned fish are not to be counted.

No registrations will be made at the Aiken school. There is no provision made for registrations after the periods mentioned are over. On Tuesday, registrations of people in the bracket from A to D, inclusive, will be made; Wednesday, E to I, inclusive; Thursday, J to O, inclusive; Friday, P to Z, inclusive.

Girls In Alaska Are Swamped With Dates

Million Men For Each Woman, But Showgirls Find No Need To "Beat Off Wolves"

By HOWARD HANDLEMAN
(U. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

FORT GREELY, Alaska, Feb. 19—What happens to a girl in a country where there are approximately a million young men for every young woman?

The girl has three or four dates a day with guys who most of all want to tell her about the wife and kids back home.

That's what happened to a couple of smart young show girls who came out of New York and Hollywood to entertain in USO camp shows.

The girls are Judy Lane, a dancer of Hollywood, and Margie Liszt, singer of Long Island City, N. Y.

They have been in Alaska since early last November, and as Margie said today, their experiences "have revived my faith in mankind."

Margie admitted she had had some rough treatment from men in the States, and was pretty well disillusioned with men when she arrived in Alaska.

"I was all ready to beat off the wolves," she said. "The only thing wrong was I didn't find any wolves to beat.

"Something is different up here. Maybe it's pride in uniform, or maybe it's fear of a spanking from the Army. But whatever it is, the boys up here are gentlemen.

"They want big sisters, and that's what we try to be.

"We found out early that the thing they like to do best is tell us about their wives and girl friends back home. Now we encourage them to talk about their sweethearts, and they love it.

"We've made it a point to date everybody from a buck private to a full colonel, and we haven't bumped into the pawing, fresh date like you get in the States."

NAZI MERCHANT RAIDER LOOSE?

Possibility That Armed Raider Passed Through English Channel Is Cited

(International News Service)

LONDON, Feb. 19.—Possibility that the Germans may have succeeded in passing an armed merchant raider through the English channel was voiced by the London Evening News today.

The naval correspondent of the newspaper spoke of this week's lively gun duels across the channel and employment of American Liberator bombers in a heavy raid on the port of Dunkirk. An attempted British light naval sortie off Cape Gris-Nez also was linked with the action.

All these, the writer said, "indicate the Germans may have been trying to pass an armed merchant raider through the channel or even succeeded."

It was recalled that the German battleships Scharnhorst and Gneisenau and the cruiser Prinz Eugen a dramatic dash from the French port of Brest through the Dover Straits and into German ports despite all efforts of the Royal Air Force to intercept them.

Air Officer Rescues Woman From River

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 19.—Second Lieutenant Norman S. Gorson, 27, of the Army Air Corps, was en route to his new station at Dickinson college today after spending part of his one-day leave rescuing a woman from the icy waters of the Schuylkill river.

Gorson was driving along West River Drive with his mother and bride of two months when a Fairmount Park guard asked his aid in rescuing the woman. Two other guards joined in a search for a rowboat.

The lieutenant, seeing the woman struggling in the water, decided in favor of immediate action. Stripping to his shorts, he crawled out on the ice, grabbed her by the hair, and pulled her ashore.

The woman was identified as Miss Veronica McDonald, 44.

Left Behind by Japs

A HUGE PAIR of powerful binoculars captured from the Japs in the battle of Buna, New Guinea, is held by Sergt. James M. Cox, of Jackson, Miss. All the equipment the Japs had at this stronghold was either destroyed or captured by hard-fighting U. S. troops when they wiped the Japs out. (International)

BIG MILLING PLANT DESTROYED BY FIRE

(International News Service)

SCOTTDALE, Pa., Feb. 19.—The four-story, half-century old Pritts Milling company here was destroyed by fire today with a loss of $40,000. The firm was the largest of its kind in southwestern Pennsylvania.

J. E. Pritts, co-owner of the plant with R. H. Pritts, said ruefully that "never before did we have such a large stock of grain in the building at one time." He said the stock included government grain.

No injuries were reported.

STEVENS HOTEL NOW GOVERNMENT OWNED

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—The government today became the actual owner of the 3,000-room Stevens Hotel, taken over by the Army last summer for use as an air force technical training school.

A check for $6,000,000, the price at which the hotel corporation agreed to sell, was deposited with the clerk of the federal court in Chicago.

The hotel cost $25,000,000 to build.

Can Face Jap Guns But Not Microphone

Guadalcanal Marine Veteran Cancels Radio Speech, But Tells Of 'Rugged Time'

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 19.—He can face crack Japanese fighting men without flinching but Marine Corp. Melvin Berk of Pittsburgh is deathly afraid of a microphone.

The 23-year-old veteran of the Guadalcanal fighting was scheduled to make a radio speech tonight but it had to be cancelled. "I'd rather be back in Guadalcanal than face that microphone," he said timidly.

But Corporal Berg isn't timid as he proved by recalling some of his experiences in the southwest Pacific.

"We had a rugged time down there," he reflected, "a very rugged time. Why one night we accounted for 780 Japs—well-trained seasoned Japs who carried souvenirs from Wake and the Philippines.

"We were under fire most of the time from Jap ships in the harbor. And when we weren't dodging 14 and 16-inch shells we were ducking cocoanuts.

"Recreation? Sure, we had lots of that. Every night we shot Japs and during the daytime we took turns listening to the world series broadcasts."

NEWARK WAREHOUSE, PLANT BURN TODAY

(International News Service)

NEWARK, Del., Feb. 19.—Damage totaling $70,000 was done today by two fires which raged almost simultaneously in Newark.

Firemen were in the midst of their battle against flames which destroyed the frame paint warehouse of J. Newton Shaeffer in the business district, when a blaze was discovered at the Newark plant of the National Vulcanized Fibre company.

Harold Shaeffer, son of the owner of the paint warehouse, estimated the damage at $50,000, and an official of the fibre company said damaged there amounted to about $20,000.

Captain Rickenbacker Demands Elimination Of Labor Racketeers

"Cancerous Element" Must Be Legislated Out Of Existence, He Asserts

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—Proposing service records for civilian war workers, Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker demanded on Thursday that congress legislat the "cancerous element" of labor racketeers out of existence.

"I definitely feel," he told a luncheon of the Commerce and Industry Association, "That our situation here at home is most serious and that by such legislation our congress could free honest labor from those racketeers and parasites that are right now hindering the effort of our workers to do the best they can to win the war."

Declaring that he is "not a labor hater" but one who "believes in honest labor unions who are doing their darndest to turn out the weapons we need," Rickenbacker said he was "shocked" that the war manpower commission failed to include in its list of non-deferrable occupations " a group known more commonly as labor racketeers of the 'graft' age."

"To the labor leaders who are so prone to criticize so freely," he continued, "I say petition our government for the privilege of flying to the hell-holes of the Pacific and to the battlefields of North Africa, and see for yourselves as I have—then, and then alone, will I listen to you".

Rickenbacker urged that facilities of the sclective service boards be used to draft men needed in industry and agriculture, that these men be taught in army and navy schools "in the same way that their younger and unmarried contemporaries are being taught a skill of war" and that they then be released to industry and agriculture.

Reiterating his opposition to payment of overtime wages for a 48-hour week, Rickenbacker also demanded that service men returning to civilian life following the war be allowed to find jobs without having to join a labor union.

RHEUMATIC FEVER

This disease is a indefinite thing. Diphtheria and scarlet fever and typhoid are definite diseases due to a specific germ. These bacterias have been discovered and proved.

The cause of rheumatic fever has not been definitely found.

The disease has been known for a long time. It may affect either children or adults.

Sometimes the joints are inflamed, sometimes not.

The valves of the heart are the danger spots.

Quiet and rest in bed are always good.

Medical care is usually needed for quite a while.

The care of children is quite a problem. They usually feel pretty good after the fever goes down. They do not like the idea of staying in bed all the time.

The school work is a problem too. After the first few days some school work can be done but rest is more important than school.

The doctor can usually estimate the amount of activity allowable.

Manila Rope Badly Needed For War Use

Western Pennsylvania Drive Started To Recover Strong Rope, Now Scarce

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 19.—A special drive for manila rope, in great need by the armed forces, has been started in Western Pennsylvania, Albert H. Burchfield, Jr., area director for the War Production Board, announced today.

"The loss of the Philippines," he said, "has cut off our supply of manila fiber. Since only manila rope can stand the prolonged strain of certain essential military and marine uses, the armed services and the merchant marine need large quantities—more than can be manufactured or is available through regular trade channels.

"In this drive we have to depend on the initiative of the holder to report to us if they have rope to spare because we have no means of knowing who the holders are. The names of dealers were availabie through usual channel and we are recovering all the rope in their hands, but it is impossible to circularize all possible consumer-holders of rope because it is such a widely used commodity."

A. H. Cline, Jr., 801 First National Bank building, has been authorized to act as purchasing agent for the government in the drive here.

Navy Accepting Men For 'Seabees'

Navy Construction Battalion interviewer, Warrant Officer Louis Alt, Jr., has been assigned to the Pittsburgh Navy Recruiting Station, and will be available for interviews daily except Sundays from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m., Chief Petty Officer David C. Ritchie stated here today.

The Construction Battalions or "SeaBees" as they are known, are composed primarily of craftsmen. All craftsmen between the ages of 38 and 50½ are eligible, provided they qualify physically, for immediate enlistment.

Men in this age bracket who desire to enlist should visit the main Navy Recruiting Station at Pittsburgh or the Navy Recruiting substations at Altoona, DuBois, Erie, Greensburg, Johnstown, New Castle and Uniontown.

"SeaBee" applicants should have their birth certificates and at least three letters of recommendation from current and previous employers when they apply for enlistment.

Advanced ratings may be assigned those men depending upon their experience and other qualifications.

Social Security Wage Records Here No Help In Filing Income Tax

Local Board Office Records Show Wage Earnings Only To June 30, 1942

Persons seeking to learn the amount of wages earned during 1942 for the purpose of filing income tax returns are urged not to request such information from the social security board.

"It is impossible for the board to give a wage earner a statement showing the total wages he has earned during the calendar year 1942," A. L. Fath, manager of the New Castle field office, explained today. "This is due to the delay in filing of the social security tax returns of employers and length of time required to process and post the earnings of millions of workers. Consequently, our records at the present time do not show wages earned after June 30, 1942."

"However," Mr. Fath continued, "if any worker desires to check whether his wages have been correctly reported and credited to his old-age and survivors insurance account he can obtain a statement showing the wages credited up to July 1, 1942. A post card form is provided for persons requesting a statement. It requires the social security account number, date of birth, address and signature. These post cards are avaliable at any social security board field office. Famed Test Pilot Allen Was Killed In Seattle Crash

Made First Successful Glider Flight, First Pilot To Receive Chanute Award

(International News Service)

EVANSTON, Ill., Feb. 19.—Edmund T. "Eddie" Allen, killed in yesterday's Seattle bomber crash, was internationally known as the ace American test pilot for large aircraft.

Eddie's chief interest always was flying. He flew in World War I. In 1922, he and two other students of aeronautical engineering at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology built a glider and young Allen was credited with making the first successful glider flight in this country.

He joined the Boeing staff in 1939, after having been the first test pilot for the National Advisory committee for aeronautics at Langley Field, Va.

Allen was the first pilot to be given the Chanute award for pilots making outstanding contributions to aviation.

AMERICAN AMBULANCE STOPS FOR WOUNDED

AN AMERICAN FIELD SERVICE AMBULANCE pulls up beside a wrecked German tank in a small village in Tripolitania before picking up soldiers wounded in the furious fighting at that battlefront. Heavy fighting took place and is still continuing unabated. (International)

P.U.C. ENDS TWO-DAY HEARING ON B. & L. E. PASSENGER SERVICE

(Special To The News)

GROVE CITY, Feb. 19.—A two-day hearing by the P. U. C. into the application of the Bessemer & Lake Erie railroad's petition to discontinue passenger service between Greenville and North Bessemer ended here late yesterday after 25 witnesses had testified. The local hearings followed two days of testimony at Butler.

Railroad counsel offered only one witness, resting its case on previous testimony. The witness was James Seawright, route agent for the American Express Co., who testified that arrangements for satisfactory service by truck had been made to replace trains, if rail service was eliminated.

Residents of communities along the right-of-way testified that train service was essential to their business and convenience.

Billed For "Dutch Treat" Courtship By Ex-Sweetheart

Chicago Truck Driver Ordered To Pay $178.89 For Expenses He Had "Put On Bill"

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Feb. 19—A "Dutch treat" courtship before his marriage to another woman in 1940 cost Michael Z. Pavlovich, truck driver, $178.89 including 5 per cent interest on Thursday.

The judgment for that amount was returned by a jury of four women and two men in municipal court after Pavlovich's former sweetheart, Miss Emily Sekoskey, 30-year-old secretary, presented a bill for $198.89 plus $49 interest which included such items as half an ice cream cone, half a lottery ticket, half a bag of potato chips and half a package of pistachio nuts.

"Put it on the bill, Mike would tell me every time I paid when we went out," Miss Sekoskey testified. "I asked him to keep his own record, but he trusted me."

"I lived next door to her from 1935 to 1939," Pavlovich said. "She gave me money to buy show tickets and then told me to keep the change because I was broke and was working only three months a year. I never said put it on the bill."

Defense Attorney Leo J. Lasnier argued that "in these times of women's rights' gifts to the men of ice cream, shows and the like are the accepted thing, but the jury simply added $49 interest to $198.89 and subtracted $69 which Miss Sekoskey said Pavlovich had paid her and rendered a judgment against him for $178.89.

Words Of Wisdom

Character and personal force are the only investments that are worth anything.—Whitman.

Your Federal Income Tax

No. 41
TRADES AND EXCHANGES
(PART 1)

Among the forms of transactions to which consideration must be given in preparing a Federal income tax return are trades and exchanges of property. When a person receives goods for services, as in the case of a workman taking groceries for wages, or a lawyer receiving securities for professional services, a question of income tax liability arises. It also arises when a farmer trades farm pr duce for services or goods, such as groceries of farm equipment, or when cattle or farms or other property is traded. It arises frequently in security transactions, particularly in reorganizations where one form of security is exchanged for another form of security of the same or a different corporation. All such transactions may give rise to taxable gain.

In the case of exchange of one's services or the product of one's labor (as farm produce) for goods or property, the value of the goods or property received in exchange becomes ordinary income reportable in item 1 of the return Form 1040. Where property is exchanged for property of another kind, or for services the transaction may give rise to a capital gain or loss (if the property exchanged is a capital asset), reportable in Schedule F, item 8(a) of the return Form 1040, and where the property exchanged is not a capital asset the transaction may give rise to ordinary gain or loss reportable in Schedule G and item 8 (b) of the return Form 1040. In such cases, the measure of gain or loss is the difference between the basis of the property exchanged and the fair market value of the property received in exchange.

Where, however, property is exchanged for property of a like kind, the transaction, within certain definite limitations, is considered as giving rise neither to gain nor to loss, and accordingly is nontaxable.

The general provision regarding non-taxtble exchanges is that the property exchanged must have been held for productive use in trade or business or for investment, and exchanged solely for property of a like kind to be held either for productive use in trade or business or for investment. The simplest example of such an exchange would be a swap of work horses.

It sometimes happens that a taxpayer has an involuntary gain, as when property is sold under condemnation, or is destroyed or stolen, with the receipt of insurance. If the proceeds of involuntary conversion are "forthwith in good faith invested in property which is similar or related in service or use to the property converted," no gain shall be recognized. If, however, any part of the money received is not so reinvested, the gain in excess of the amount not reinvested would be taxable. The taxpayer must be able to prove that the money received was the money actually reinvested in such other property. Moreover, certain restrictions are imposed on the kind of property in which reinvestment may be made. For instance, an investment in improved real estate of the proceeds from forced sale of unimproved real estate, would not be considered as an investment in property "similar or related in service or use," and any gain would be taxable.

Greater Civilian Effort Needed To Aid War Program Says Babson

By ROGER W. BABSON
(Copyright, 1943, Publishers Financial Bureau, Inc.)

BABSON PARK, Mass., Feb. 19.—In this global war we in America are fighting for the non-essential and inefficient businesses as much as we are striving to build up businesses essential to the war effort we want to continue certain of our recreations, our rights of free speech and other factors which make up our American way of living. However, temporarily, we must now be prepared to give up many things which we have long felt constitute our inalienable rights.

BABSON

Not War Minded

I venture to say that by far the bulk of our people still do not realize we are at war. People are either having one last fling or are totally unconscious of what is going on in the world. Many people justify their usual way of living today by saying that it is what the boys in the armed services expect. They say that the country clubs, amusement places and general hilarious way of living must be kept going for the boys to enjoy when they are on leave or when they return after finishing their job.

I do not begrudge anyone a good time. Moreover, I do not believe that good times can be or should be legislated out of our lives. Whatever we can do and can enjoy without effect upon the war effort should be continued as a part of the familiar American scene. But 1943 should be our readjustment year. It may be our hardest year of the war or it may be just a preliminary to a harder one to come. At any rate, some real sacrifices are now in order to back up to the fullest extent our armed services.

Easy Days To Date

If every civilian were to ask himself "What have I done to help the war effort?" perhaps only one-third of them would be able to state a clear case. Many of these are registered for enlistment, while over 60,000 parents have had a boy killed, wounded or captured. Certainly, these have contributed their share. Millions of people are actually engaged in war work and even though highly paid they feel, and rightly so, that they are doing their part. Many millions more have bought war bonds which, while commendable, is only a passive form of contribution.

The only way the majority of us have felt the war is through a slight readjustment in our normal way of living. This has resulted from rationing, restrictions, priorities, lack of residential building, limited use of automobiles and the cumulative effect of wartime upon our nervous systems. The rank and file of our people have continued their lives in accustomed ruts. They feel that things are getting better and leave the worrying to the military.

The War In Russia

For some weeks now we have been informed of much territory regained by Stalin's great armies, told of the booty captured from the Germans, of hundreds of German fighter and transport planes being shot down. Russia is certainly waging some real offensive attacks, but her success to date does not necessarily mean Germany is all through on the eastern front.

The line of battle in Russia is a series of spearheads. A great attempt is being made by Russia to turn the German flanks. From a military point of view, the territory now retaken in middle Russia is of relatively small importance. Only when the main German strongholds are evacuated can the flanks be turned and the territory between collapse into the hands of the Russians. Smolensk and Rostov must both be retaken before we can get a clear picture, but the fall of Rostov may be the beginning of the end.

Labor Requirements Urgent

The situation in Russia and in Africa and the preparation for a Continental offensive require supplies from this country almost beyond comprehension. Losses through U-boat action are still bad. Until we have adequate surpluses of munitions and food there will be continual need of more and more employment and rationing for purely military purposes. How suddenly new regulations governing civilian purchases can be enforced is seen by the recent restrictions on shoe purchases.

The importance of employment is seen by the civilian selective service act. Under this bill, all men 18 to 65 and women 18 to 50 would have a legal obligation to directly aid the war effort by non-combatant work at home. We can no longer rely upon volunteer hit and miss methods of recruiting productive manpower. At least half our population must be engaged in active fighting and in producing the wherewithal to fight and to eat. This means the recruiting of some 65,000,000 individuals. How this will affect business is something to ponder. Businessmen and investors should realize this in their plans for 1943.

More About I. Q.'s

P. S. I have had so many inquiries regarding my condemnation of school authorities for branding students by their "I. Q.'s" that I must add this:

I. Q.'s are useful in determining a child's natural ability to do certain things; but I. Q.'s are not a guide or measure of his courage, persistence, industry, integrity or other assets which really determine his future. Furthermore, they overemphasize the intellectual rather than the spiritual qualities although the latter are far more important. Give me the youths who have been truly awakened spiritually and I'll take my chances with them whatever their I. Q. ratings may be.

Scores "Misguided" Critics Of Daytime Bombings By U. S.

General Eaker Praises Effective Attacks On Axis Europe In Last Six Months

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—Hard-hitting Maj. Gen. Ira C. Eaker, commander of the U.S. Bomber Squadrons attacking Axis Europe, on Thursday called "misguided" criticism of American daylight bombing raids potentially "more dangerous to the Allied cause than any fifth column now operating anywhere in the world."

Marking the six months' anniversary of the first American heavy bombardment of Hitler's lands, Eaker praised around-the-clock bombing and termed America's Flying Fortresses and liberators "the best day bombers in the world."

Eaker, commanding general of the Eighth Air Force, based in England, said the British-American strategy whereby U.S. bombers raid by daylight and British planes bomb at night obtains "maximum destruction of the enemy's hard-pressed industry."

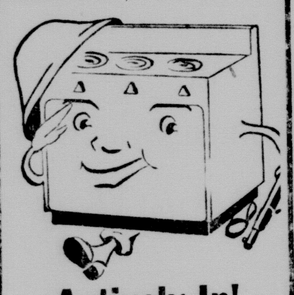

The constant threat thus provided, he pointed out, forces Germany to keep her air raid system on the alert 24 hours a day, thus depriving the Nazis of the productive use of "several hundred thousand German workmen." Furthermore, "a large force" of German day fighters, needed in North Africa, Russia and other war theatres, is kept statically occupied.

State Tax Cut Is In Prospect

New Budget May Allow Reduction Of $40,000,000 For Biennium

SOME TAX LEVIES MAY BE CUT OUT

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Feb. 19.—A $40,000,000 state tax cut was in prospect today as Gov. Edward Martin double-checked budget estimates for the 1943-45 biennium with cabinet officials.

He indicated his budget address to the general assembly may be postponed from next Wednesday to the first week in March, although final decision has not yet been made.

The reduction could be accomplished, the governor said, by eliminating $32,000,00 in revenue from the tax on property, bank shares and corporate loans and about $8,000,00 from the mercantile levy. Governor Martin has suggested that the four taxes be eliminated.

He disclosed that estimates placed the general fund from which government operating costs are derived, at $335,00,000 during the next biennium as compared with $353,000,000 which the commonwealth probably will have expended when the current two-year period expires May 31. Decreased revenues from all sources were expected to account for the decline.

Churchill Has Acute Catarrh

(International News Service)

LONDON, Feb. 19.—Physicians attending Prime Minister Winston Churchill, who was confined to bed yesterday with a cold, stated today that the British premier is suffering from acute catarrh of the upper respiratory passages.

The bulletin signed by two doctors was issued from Churchill's official residence at 10 Downing street.

"The prime minister is confined to bed with an acute catarrh of the upper respiratory passage," said the statement signed by Drs. Charles Wilson and Geoffrey Marshall.

Army Now Taking Disabled Men For Non-Combat Duty

Thousands Of Limited Service Men Trained At Camp McCoy, Wisconsin

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—The army now is taking thousands of men who would have been barred in previous wars by disabilities, giving them some mild "reconditioning" and using them in the non-combat service, Will O'Neil of Chicago said Thursday in Hygeia, the health magazine.

"Last August," he wrote, "The army began taking men with physical defects that render them unfit for service in the combat branches. They have released thousands of more able-bodied men for the shooting work of the army, and their contributions to the success of the army are by no means limited to kitchen service.

"Although not classified as combat troops, many of them are going across the seas with their outfits to servre in the areas where action is the hottest.

"Instead of the 13 weeks of rugged basic training given general service men immediately after their induction into uniform, the limited service men are given a month's condensed but intensive introduction to the army. The pattern for this introductory course, according to Maj. Gen. H. S. Aurand, commanding the Sixth Service Command, has been established at Camp McCoy, Wis."

O'Neil said the camp has "reconditioned" 10,000 men and now is turning them out at the rate of a thousand a week. About 65 per cent of them had been rejected for general military service because of poor eyesight.

PROPOSE CUTTING TRAFFIC LIGHTS

(International News Service)

MILWAUKEE, Feb. 19.—War, with its gasoline rationing and tire shortage, has brought such a reduction in traffic on Milwaukee streets that a committee of the city council proposed today the elimination of 10 traffic lights.

A traffic expert reported a "great slackening of traffic" on all streets except those leading to war plants.

CASES FILED

Among the cases filed with Prothonotary and Clerk of Courts John A. Edgar are the following.

Andrew Carlson, Jr., files a suit against William G. Carlon for $3500 damages with the provisi that if the court determines this is not the proper measure of damages $1,000 is asked.

The case arises out of the said property in Shenango township. The property was originally the property of Andrew C. Carlson, Sr., and was sold at sheriff's sale in September 1940 to Edwin M. Chambers and Janet Eakin. They in turn sold the property to William G. Carlon. It is averred that Carlon bought the property at the behest of Andrew Carlson, Jr., for an investment with the agreement that if he sold the property, what he realized over the investment and interest would go to Carlon.

Carlon sold part of the property to Raymond J. and Verna Jones and it is averred that he would sell the balance of the property to Carlson, Jr. Since then, Carlson alleges he has offered to purchase the property but has been refused by Carlon and for this reason the suit is brought.

The Department of Public Assistance, of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania through John P. Brinton, executive secretary here, has brought a number of suits to recover money advanced by the commonwealth to persons alleged to have had property at the time the money was given.

The suits follow: Against Nick and Dorothy Yelkovich for $126.10. Against Andrew and Mary Angelo for $80.75. Against Domenico and Concetta Scarazzo, for $351.68. Against Guito and Concetta Fazzone, for $52.50. Against Harry E. and Olive Miller, $151.80.

The newly completed post theatre at the Shenango Personnel Replacement Depot will rock with laughter Sunday as the original New York cast of the Max Gordon laugh sensation, "Junior Miss," visits the Shenango Depot on Sunday to entertain soldiers at the newest Army camp in Western Pennsylvania.

Norristown Man Dies Of Explosion Injury

Two Other Workers In Hospital Following Boiler Explosion At Bridgeport

(International News Service)

NORRISTOWN, Pa., Feb. 18.—John Murray, 55, of Norristown, died today in Montgomery hospital of burns and injuries received in a boiler explosion in the James Lee & Sons company plant at Bridgeport.

Two other persons, who were treated at a first aid station on the plat's grounds, were sent to the hospital last night when their conditions grew worse.

They were Ernie Tyler, of Norristown, and John Doyle, Conshohocken.

The explosion occurred in a boiler which was under repair. Two thousand employes at the plant, which is engaged in 75 per cent war work, were notified that the factory will be closed until further notice, because of lack of steam.

Donald K. Rittenhouse, personnel director, said work would probably be resumed within seven days.

Report Gandhi Is Much Worse

(International News Service)

LONDON, Feb. 19. — Devadas Gandhi, eldest son of Mohandas K. Gandhi, was reported today to be hurrying to the bedside of his father at Poona, India, following receipt of a report that the aged Hindu leader is in a "sinking" condition.

Concern was expressed yesterday over the condition of the 73-year-old spiritual leader when his heart action grew feeble. He is in the 10th day of a 21-day fast in protest against his detention in the palace of the Aga Khan as a result of a political disobedience campaign begun last August.

Announce Change In Audible Fire Alarms

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Feb. 19.—The State Council of Defense announced today that fire stations having sirens have been notified to use the new uniform alarm system, consisting of three, five-second blasts at three-second intervals to avoid confusion between fire alarms and air raid warning signals.

Audible alarms, the council states, "will not be sounded at any time during air raids or drills, because at such times fire calls will be handled through defense control centers."

The new fire alarm was made necessary, it was added, because many companies have used a steady blast which is identical with the preliminary "blue" warning signal used under the new air raid system.

Reaction Of Yanks To African Reverse Given By Reporter

(EDITOR'S NOTE: In the course of a press conference yesterday, Secretary of War Stimson said that the American setback in Tunisia "should not be minimized, but still less should it be exaggerated." In the following exclusive dispatch, an International News Service correspondent for the first time sets forth the reaction of American officers and men themselves to the initial reverse on African soil.)

By GRAHAM HOVEY

WITH ALLIED FORCES IN SOUTHERN TUNISIA, Feb. 19 — "We have had our noses bloodied a little.

"That's all.

"We'll be tougher from here on."

It was an American officer speaking to this correspondent on the Tunisian battlefront today—an officer who went through the novel and difficult experience of fighting against Nazi Field Marshall Erwin Rommel's seasoned tank divisions.

He and all others now quartered on a new line in the mountains stoutly refuse to take an unduly pessimistic or even a really grave view of the present situation.

They look upon Rommel's initially successful attack as a maneuver to gain high ground and "elbow room" for the sole purpose of making more difficult and more costly the all-out Allied offensive he realizes is sure to come.

They feel also that Rommel was prompted at least in some measure to launch his attack by knowledge that Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's British Eighth army was about to begin an offensive against the Mareth Line.

"Inevitables of Warfare"

In any case, the German drive was regarded as one of those inevitables of warfare.

No one here on the battlefront seeks to minimize the initial success of it.

But as the officers said, it was simply a case of "bloody noses" for the Americans, who despite their casualties, loss of territory and equipment, are ready for the next chapter, and will surely give as good as they receive.

American and French forces now have manned strong positions in the rock hills north of the plains area around the evacuated towns of Feriana, Kasserine and Sbeitla.

They are awaiting the next moves in Rommel's offensive, which thus far admittedly has been full of surprises.

Following the Allied withdrawals, action yesterday was limited to patrolling and occasional artillery exchanges except for air activity.

Visit To Sector

A visit by this correspondent to one sector of the mountainous Allied line indicates that the Germans in their next move face the toughest situation they will have encountered since they struck westward on Sunday from Faid Pass.

The steep rock terrain, gashed by only a few precipitous passes, form a big factor on the side of the Allies. If the Americans and French can guard these passes effectively and withstand German artillery fire, their positions should make excellent springboards for counter-attacks.

Meanwhile, Allied military spokesmen speculated on the likelihood that Rommel, despite all rumors he was wounded in a bombing attack and is hospitalized in Germany, led the attack in person. One unit participating is known to have belonged to his crack panzer divisions and there are indications that a second also came from his own "private army" which took such a terrific beating from the British in the Libyan desert.

UNIQUE DECISION MADE BY ALLEGHENY JURORS

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Feb 19.—An Allegheny county jury today was the subject of considerable talk in Pittsburgh legal circles after a most unique decision—which it hastily corrected.

The jury, after considering the case of Mrs. Betty O'Brity vs. James Flora on a charge of assault and battery, dismissed the charges.

"And we place the costs on the court," announced Mrs. Bertha Damp, jury foreman.

"Do you mean to say you hold me responsible for this?" fairly shouted Visiting Judge J. Frank Graff.

The jury went into conference again and emerged with the costs upon the county.

GLOUCESTER PLANT DESTROYED BY FIRE

(International News Service)

GLOUCESTER, Mass., Feb. 19.—Two buildings housing a defense plant on the waterfront were leveled by a general alarm fire today which threatened the business district.

Damage to the structures and stock and machinery of the D. O. Frost company, manufacturers of oiled waterproof clothing for the armed services, was estimated at $100,000.

Origin of the fire was not determined.

General Pickett of Gettysburg fame, was, after the Civil war, in life insurance business and died in Norfolk, Va., in 1875.

SOUND SHELLS REDUCE EGG BREAKAGE LOSSES

Egg losses that result through breakage of improper handling are not only financial in nature. They can contribute in part to mounting needs in food supplies so important to the war effort.

In these trying times of labor shortages, inadequate supplies of egg cases, equipment and critical ingredients, poultrymen are striving to do the best job possible in spite of handicaps.

It is important that eggs have sound shells if breakage is to be reduced. Keep an abundant supply of clean, coarse oyster shell, or other satisfactory source of calcium before the birds at all times. Occasionally sprinkle a little on the mash in the feeders. Feeding of oils rich in vitamin D or satisfactory dry forms of vitamine D is essential during the winter months if the birds are kept confined to enable the birds to assimilate the calcium in the oyster shell.

If the egg shells are weak, check the oyster shell or other source of calcium and increase the amount of feeding oil or vitamin D in some other form in the ration. If additional oil is used, add it in the proportion of an 85 D unit oil at the rate of one pint to each 100 pounds of dry mash or one pint per day to each 700 birds if fed in the scratch grain or in a wet mash.

SILAGE IS ECONOMICAL FEED FOR BEEF CATTLE

Silage has proved valuable in lowering the cost of beef production, and thus has become a welcome addition to cattle rations.

Trials at various experiment stations have shown that it is commonly more economical to give fattening cattle twice a day all the silage they will clean up without waste than to limit the amount of silage fed.

Two-year-old steers full-fed on corn, legume hay, and silage will eat 30 to 40 pounds of silage a day during the early part of the feeding period. As feeding progresses, the amount will be gradually reduced until during the last month when they will eat only 10 to 20 pounds a day. Yearlings and calves will eat less silage.

If it seems desirable to limit the amount of corn fed as grain, it is best during the first part of the feeding period to feed the steers only silage and hay, with enough linseed oil cake or cottonseed meal to balance the ration. The steers will make good gains on such a ration for some time, and then 40 to 60 days before they are to be marketed, they may be fed corn grain and finished on full feed.

Feeding trials show that this method requires less corn than when a half allowance of corn is fed throughout the entire feeding period. It produces fully as large gains and as good finish. Consequently, the profit is greater than when a limited amount of corn is fed over the entire period.

SMALL FRUITS PRODUCE FOOD FOR FAMILY USE

Much more interest than usual is being shown this year in the production of small fruits.

In view of the present food situation, these fruits deserve the general interest displayed in their culture. They not only furnish a welcome addition to the summer diet, but may also be canned, preserved, or frozen for use during the winter.

The strawberry, red raspberry, black raspberry, and grape are the most important of the small fruits. All may be successfully grown in small plantings of suitable size to meet the needs of the individual family. In this respect, they are much more suitable for home production than are the tree fruits, such as apple and peach.

Given good care and favored by weather, the spring-bearing varieties of strawberry may be expected to produce about a quart of berries for each plant set out, or about a quart for each 18 inches of "matted row".

In like manner, the raspberry of full-bearing age may be expected to yield about a quart for each two feet of row. The grape, when set about 10 feet apart in the row and trained on a two-wire trellis, may be expected to yield about 8 to 12 pounds of fruit for each mature plant. Under ideal conditions, these figures may be doubled, but where weather and cultural conditions are unfavorable, production may fall far short of these expected yields.

Further information, as well as publication, on the small fruits may be obtained from the Agricultural Extension office, No. 206 Post Office Building, New Castle.

TREAT VEGETABLE SEED TO CONTROL DISEASES

Seed for producing vegetable plants should be treated to kill disease-causing fungi and bacteria—that are carried in the seed.

Seed of such plants as tomato, cabbage, cauliflower, broccoli, and kale are soaked in water just hot enough to kill the disease-causers without killing the seed. Cucumber, eggplant, and pepper seed are treated with bichloride of mercury before planting.

Detailed instructions for seed treating for vegetable disease control may be obtained from the Lawrence County Agricultural Extension Association office, No. 206 Post Office Bldg., New Castle.

Some seed companies treat their seed before selling it. Gardeners who have experienced trouble with certain diseases in their crops should make sure that the treatments used are designed to prevent the diseases which are likely to cause damage in the plants they grow.

FARM TIMBER IN GREAT DEMAND

War conditions have brought about a great demand for timber of all kinds. A number of Lawrence county farmers are cutting timber from their woodlots and are helping to supply this demand.

Information on the proper methods of cutting and of woodlot management may be obtained from the Agricultural Extension Office, No. 206 Post Office Building, New Castle.

MACHINE IN GOOD ORDER MAKES SEWING A JOY

The sewing machine that's in good working condition is a pleasure to use and gives most satisfactory results. Besides the sewing machine will last a lifetime when it is properly cared for and adjusted, says Miss Anna Marie Quinn, home economics extension representative, Lawrence county.

When a sewing machine has been used for a long time, it will begin to run hard and some adjustments will be needed. However, the moving parts of the machine should be cleaned and oiled before any adjustments are made.

The homemaker can easily clean her own machine, believes Miss Quinn, and offers the following suggestions. Kerosene, gasoline, or carbon tetrachloride may be used as the cleaning fluid, but each has its disadvantages. Kerosene dries out slowly, gasoline is highly inflammable and if used the cleaning must be done out of doors away from any open flame, and carbon tetrachloride may damage the finish of the machine should any be spilled.

Whatever fluid is used, the cleaning procedure is the same. First release the belt from the balance wheel, remove the face plate, presser foot, needle, bobbin, throat plate, and side plate. Put all the screws in a flat pan so they won't get lost. Fill an oil can with the cleaning fluid, and with a stiff brush go over all the working parts of the head using a generous amount of the fluid. Place a small flat pan under the head to catch the excess liquid. Run the machine until the dirt is loosened from the moving parts.

To clean the feed dog and bobbin case, place the flat pan under the bed of the machine and clean these two parts thoroughly, removing the excess fluid with a soft cloth. Do not remove the small piece of felt that is used to supply oil to the shuttle.

Next tip the head away from you and clean all the working parts on the underside, holding the pan to catch the excess fluid. Remove all lint and dust with a toothpick or stiff brush and be sure all pieces of thread are taken away from the bearings. In treadle type machine, these bearings must be cleaned and oiled thoroughly.

Replace the parts removed, oil with sewing machine oil, and run by hand to work in the oil. Wipe off the excess oil, thread up, and stitch on a piece of scrap material until the thread looks perfectly clean. Any necessary adjustments can be made after the machine has dried.

The Grand Canyon of the Arizona lies entirely within the state of Arizona.

NEW REGISTRATION FEE BILL SIGNED

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Feb. 19—Gov. Edward Martin on Thursday signed an act of assembly establishing a flat $10 annual registration fee for all passenger cars. The new law becomes effective immediately.

The governor also approved a companion bill reducing from $26.50 to $16.50 the license costs for half-ton "pickup" trucks. Both measures were enacted finally yesterday by the legislature. It was estimated that 1,500,000 passenger car owners and 28,000 truckers would save more than $4,130,000 during the next two years as a result of the fee reductions.

MEAT RATION MAY BE LOWER

Per Capita Allowance May Be 1¾ Pounds Per Week Or Less

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—Informed OPA sources said today that the per capita meat allowance for civilians under rationing may be 1¾ pounds or less each week.

Expanding military and lend-lease requirements may result in the reduction in civilian supplies, it was said.

The two and one-half pounds per week allotment once deemed possible and used as a basis for the government's unsuccessful effort to voluntarily limit the consumption of meat was described as "way in the clouds."

Officials sometime ago began considering the possibility of providing two pounds of meat each week for every civilian consumer, but recently their hopes for achieving even this goal have dwindled away.

"The prospects are for the meat supply situation to become tighter rather than looser," a spokesman said. "The per capita quota may drop to 1¾ pounds a week or less."

"I don't think that anyone will know exactly what the per capita allotment is going to be, however, until we get right down to the point of rationing and determine what the supplies are at that moment."

September 29, 1854, the United States sloop of war, Albany, sailed from Aspinwall (now Colon), Panama, for New York and was never heard from again.

PUBLIC SHOWS CONSIDERATION

Diversion of foods to the military forces has not as yet worked any appreciable hardship upon civilians. There are times, however, when Isaly Stores may be temporarily out of certain products, but as a general rule most dairy foods are still available. Customers, noticeably more considerate in their buying habits, are meeting conditions with a new spirit of helpfulness and cooperation.

FURTHER PLANS FOR WAR FUND

Details Are Virtually Completed, Chairman Galbreath Announces

Following a meeting of the general committee of the Red Cross War Fund drive, which took place in the Chapter House, of the Lawrence County Chapter, American Red Cross, it was announced today by Chairman Robert F. Galbreath, president of Westminster college, that plans for the campaign which will get under way March 1, are virtually complete.

Roy F. Conway, assistant county superintendent of schools, will have charge of the roll call in the rural section of the county, with George D. Reid in charge of the business section; Clyde M. Whittaker, the industries; and Mrs. H. M. Wharton, the residential district.

The entire quota, as has been announced before is $96,000, with Ellwood City, through its branch assuming the responsibility for $20,000 of this amount.

PRESIDENT'S SPEECH ON RADIO MONDAY

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—The White House announced today that President Roosevelt's speech to the Washington Day dinners next Monday will be broadcast over all radio networks at 10:30 p. m. EWT.

Mr. Roosevelt's address will be the second he has made in a fortnight, but the subject of the Washington Day address has not been divulged. The Washington Day dinners have been organized under the auspices of various Democratic party committees to raise funds for the political party's treasury.

SUES FOR $110,000 IN EMBARRASSMENT SUIT

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 19—Because attendants allegedly told a mother that her newborn baby was a boy instead of a girl, a Los Angeles hospital today was the object of a $110,000 damage suit.

Mrs. Ann Irene Peile, 31, gave birth to a baby last January 16.

Attendants, she said, told her it was a boy. Cabling that fact to her husband in Honolulu and sending out announcements "proved embarrassing" she said, when three days later attendants told her:

"We made a mistake—it's a girl."

SAYS SURVEY OF JUVENILES IS STARTLING

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—Reporting an "alarming breakdown" in the morals standards of juveniles, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover today disclosed that the arrests of minor girls increased 55.7 per cent in 1942 over the previous year.

Hoover said that a FBI survey based on the fingerprint records of persons under 21 years of age showed the prostitution and commercial vice among teen-age girls has increased 64 per cent. Those arrested for other sex offenses increased 104 per cent, he said, while increases of 39 per cent were registered for drunkenness and 69 per cent for disorderly conduct.

The FBI chief described the results of the survey as "startling," and stressed the point that the increase in crimes indicated a "deplorable lack of parental guidance and discipline in the home."

Today's Rations Large Compared With Days Of '76

HARRISBURG, Pa., Feb. 19—Complainers of rationing during this war should note the records of Washington's army at Valley Forge which make today's restrictions insignificant, according to the State Department of Commerce.

Washington, himself, wrote of conditions: "Naked, and starving as they are, we cannot enough admire the incomparable patience and fidelity of the soldiery."

The staff physician, Dr. Albigence Waldo, wrote in his diary, "Fire-cake and water for breakfast. Fire-cake and water for dinner. Fire-cake and water for supper."

Lafayette drew what should be an unforgettable picture when he described the conditions at Valley Forge: "The unfortunate soldiers were in want of everything; they had neither coats, hats, shirts, nor shoes; and their feet and legs froze until they had become almost black and it was often necessary to amputate them."

General Washington had it no better than his soldiers according to an historical record which says; "Having promised to share the hardships of his men, Washington would not move from his cold tent into the house chosen for his headquarters until the huts were under way, and the tents washed and folded for storage against the next campaign."

The waters of the Saguenay river, in Canada, appear black because of the shadow of treeless cliffs, some over 1,000 feet high, which line the banks and which cast their shadows on the water. The precipitancy of the banks continues below as well as above the water.

ROBS FATHER OF FIGHTING MARINE

City detectives today were searching for a man, the latest to earn the sobriquet: "Meanest man in town."

He is the one who reportedly stole $100.000 from Charles Vitto of 639 South Cascade street while Vitto was dining downtown.

The money was sent via money order by a son who is a marine fighting in the Pacific.

The father had cashed the money order.

GAMBLING RAID NETS CITY $180

City of New Castle via the police department was enriched $180 last night when Lieutenant Thomas Jones raided a poolroom reportedly operated by George Thomas in West Washington street. Eight visitors were arrested. It was asserted gambling was in progress. Thomas posted a forfeit of $100 and each of the visitors $10, for their appearance in police court today and failed to appear.

JUNIOR ORDER PLANS WASHINGTON PROGRAM

Plans were completed at the meeting of the Junior Order of United American Mechanics at the meeting in McGoun hall Thursday night for the annual Washington's birthday program of the order, which will take place in the hall Thursday evening, February 25.

Instead of the regular dinner, a tureen supper will be served, followed by a full evening's program of entertainment.

OHIO FLOOD STEMMED

(International News Service)

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. — Declaring the recent flood to be the most severe to hit the Ohio river proper, Col. W. B. Higgins, district engineer of the U. S Engineering office at Huntington, said the Muskingum Watershed Conservancy District reservoir system has again demonstrated its value in controlling high water in the Muskingum basin, effecting material reductions in Ohio river stages both at and below Marietta.

SOLDIERS FAVOR MOVIES

FORT BENNING, Ga.—Fort Benning soldiers are ardent theatergoers according to Capt. James C. Sutton, post theater officer. The average soldier attends the movies two or three times a week, and everyone on the post sees one picture every seven days, as shown by box office statistics. They favored current events, war-time combat, spy, and sabotage flickers.

Queen Of England Replies To Letter Concerning Soldier

Kansas City Man Gets Reply Informing Him Grandson Has Recovered

(International News Service)

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 19—Joseph E. Martin had it on the authority of no less a person than Queen Elizabeth of England today that his soldier grandson is well again after being injured in a German bombing raid.

Martin, 77 years old, has been proud of his grandson, L. W. James, Jr., ever since he left home to join the British Technical Corps. When he learned James was made communications engineer in a ground crew of the RAF the granddad's pride knew no bounds.

Letters from James stopped after June 15 last year and Martin became worried. In the last letter, James said he had fully recovered from injuries received in a German bombing raid. Martin wondered if perhaps the boy was more seriously hurt than he had admitted.

So Martin wrote the secretary of state, then the secretary of war, and the post office department. No definite information was gained and Martin then tried the American ambassador at London, the American consul and also the commandant of the Civilian Technical Corps in London.

As a last resort he addressed his last letter to "Her Majesty, the Queen". Starting off with "Dear First Lady", Martin explained the case and requested her good graces in checking on young James' health.

It wasn't long before a reply was received from Buckingham Palace assuring the grandfather that the boy was well, but that the mail had been delayed. Further, Martin was advised by the British vice-consul in Kansas City that James was returning to the United States on a a visit with his folks.

Mme. Chiang Has Press Conference

China's Leading Woman Talks To Reporters At White House

By JEAN CRAIGHEAD

(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19—A dainty little lady whose infinte grace and charm belie her tremendous role in affairs of a bitterly warring world pleaded with America today for tanks and guns and oil for the planes of China.

No one seeing her lost in the depths of President Roosevelt's great study chair would suspect that, with a wave of her child-like hand, she could bring millions of anxious Chinese into the active battle for Democracy.

Yet Mme. Chiang Kai Shek—the Joan 'D Arc from Shangri La — is just that, and more.

She proved it today at a joint press conference with President Roosevelt in his oval study room on the first floor of the White House.

There 250 expert news men and women plied her with questions, heard her soft, gracious answers and —just once—glimpsed a trace of the warrior flame that burns in her soul.

That was when she was asked if it were true China had not made full use of its manpower in the war with Japan.

Rising from her chair, as she had done to answer all other questions, her voice rose and her eyes blazed while she replied that her people could not fight with their bare hands, although she had seen them battle with swords.

Wartime Ceiling for Glamor, Too?

EYES ON YOUR WORK, FELLOW!

This is what officials of Cessna aircraft plant say happens when girl workers wear clothing that fits too well attracting male eyes.

OFFICIALS' CHOICE

This is the type of costume most war plant officials would prefer their feminine workers to wear —comfortable, safe and pratical

OH, MY!

Mail carrierettes at Miami Beach don't work in war plants, but you can guess what would happen to production if they walked past one

GLAMOR girl sweaters have become a highly controversial article of apparel with the influx of sweet young things into war plants. Most plant officials frown on them, claiming reasonably enough that production suffers because of the diverting effect on male workers' attention. Many of the girls, however, are adamant on the issue, 75 walking out of one plant and slowing production themselves because of an official ban. Here are illustrated some of the approved and disapproved costumes for plant wear.

First Woman Sergeant-Maior Enters U. S. Army

(International News Service)

HUNTSVILLE, Tex.—Teeny Halfant, a petite brunette from Galveston, recently became the first woman to hold the title of sergeant-major in the history of the United States Army.

She's not a WAAC; she's not a civilian employe — she's the new sergeant-major at the Huntsville Internment Camp, appointed to the post by Col. H. E. Fischer, the camp's commanding officer. And she succeeds Master Sergt. B. F. Krause, who's retiring after 30 years and seven months of service in the army.

Sergeant-Major Halfant, who is 20 years of age, weighs 115 pounds and is five feet, four and one-half inches tall, will, among other things, detail the hard-bitten guards for a few thousand of Uncle Sam's war prisoners to their posts of duty —guard duty and fatigue duty. She'll make out the daily orders that assign both enlisted men and officers to their chores.

Daughter of L. Halfant, Galveston business man, the pretty young woman is a native of Galveston and a graduate of Ball High school. Before assuming the rank of sergeant-major she was employed by a local insurance company.

Youngstown May Have "Slow Time"

YOUNGSTOWN, Feb. 19.—While spokesmen for Mahoning Valley communities favored retaining War Time at a meeting here Wednesday night, it appears almost certain that Youngstown will return to Eastern Standard Time at 2 a. m. Sunday with official Ohio.

At a special meeting following the discussion session, city council advanced to final reading a bill reestablishing Fast Time in city hall. Two members of council, Guy T. Ohl, and James Minehart were against the ordinance and if they stand firm, it cannot go through as an emergency measure. Thus 30 days will be required before it goes into effect.

COLIN, R. P.—Colon province will collect approximately $50,000 in revenue from juke boxes during 1943, according to the estimates of Governor Carlos J. Quintero. The $10 monthly tax on juke boxes in local bars and night spots, numbering more than 100, has been increased to $40 monthly.

Bomber Crew Hits Vessel In Battle Over New Britain

Youthful Air Fighters Return To New Guinea Base After Successful Raid

By FRANK ROBERTSON
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

SOMEWHERE IN NEW GUINEA, Feb. 19.—When a big four-motored Liberator landed recently at its New Guinea base and rolled to a stop the crew came out singing. Their expressions were jubilant.

The bomber had been on a long-range reconnaissance flight along the coast of New Britain Island, east of New Guinea and in the course of the journey they "sighted a Japanese ship and sank same."

It was only a small cargo vessel of 2,000 tons, and ordinarily would not have been a cause of such excited joy. But it was the first enemy ship to the credit of this youthful bomber crew which had been in action since December.

In the course of several flights they came very close, but the best they had scored were some near misses.

Explains Jubilant Crew

The Liberator's pilot, Lieut. R. N. Williams, Jr., of Clarksdale, Miss., told some hard-luck stories that explained the lusty singing of his crew.

"We have been trying to send a Nip ship to the bottom ever since the crew was organized," he explained. "We had our first chance in December off Madang, on the north New Guinea coast. A small convoy was sighted and we started blithely for it, innocently mistaking a plane flying above us as one of our own.

"So we started happily to make a run over the Jap convoy. Then quickly we realized our mistake about the identity of the plane above for a shell whistled through the ship and came too damned close to one of the crew.

Hit Bomber, Zero

"We dived down over the convoy and let go at them, but the best we could do was a near miss on one of the ships. So we zoomed up again to take care of the Jap medium bomber and an escorting Zero."

The Liberator's gunners got both of the enemy ships.

When the crew got out of the maiden class with their first Jap victim the bombardier was Tech. Sergt. J. B. Parsons of Eldorada, Kan. He scored a direct hit on the enemy supply sh and it went promptly to the bottom.

Now that they have their first ship and opened a score, they are anxious to build on it.

"We'll sink 'em if we see 'em," they declared confidently.

Freshman Rule Will Be Junked By Big 10 Loop

Abrogation Occurs During Special Meeting In Chicago Sunday

DRAIN ON ATHLETES CAUSES SUDDEN MOVE

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—Western conference universities will throw out the freshman rule in athletics at a special meeting of the athletic directors and faculty representatives in Chicago Sunday, it was predicted today by Big Ten officials.

No public announcement of the emergency sessions had been made, but Maj. John L. Griffith, conference commissioner, confirmed that it would be held.

The severe drain upon the athletic personnel by the fact that enlisted reserve units of the army, navy and marines are calling out athletes in steadily increasing numbers caused the calling of the meeting to consider the problem.

Under the terms of the proposed abrogation of the freshman rule first year men would become eligible to compete in the various spring sports this year as well as in the 1943 football campaign.

No Way Out

While there has been some dissent, most of the Big Ten faculty representatives, who will make the decision, were represented as believing the conference would have to remove the freshmen ban if athletics were to be continued on a scale at all comparable with former years.

Added to the fact that the schools are losing many of their ace athletes to the armed forces in the recent army announcement that student-soldiers returning to school under the new specialized training program will not have time to participate in intercollegiate athletics.

Dan Aaron J. Brumbaugh of the University of Chicago, a member of the faculty committee, remained among the apparent minority opposing a change in the rules. He said:

Same In Peacetime

"I think this rule has the same value now as in peace time. I think the freshmen need a full year to find themselves in their academic work. There's more pressure now than ever before. A good one-year program of physical toughening—not in competitive sports—is necessary to prepare them for the 'varsity."

Third U. P. Garners Junior League Toga

Third U. P. emerged as first half champs of the Junior Church league by walloping the Epworths, 30-7, last night on Y. M. C. A. floor.

Reed, Bailey and Bevan were high scorers for the titlists, while Rhodes and Stokes featured for the losing quint.

The second half race starts Saturday with the following games on the board:

Central Christians vs. Second U. P., 4:15; Trinity vs. Epworths, 6:15; Croton vs. Third U. P., and First Christians vs. Central Presbyterians.

FRICK NAMES PHILS' BOARD

Hope To Sell Club Within "Seven Days"; Syndicate Still Interested

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 19.—National League President Ford Frick named a five-member board of directors for the Phils and expressed hopes that the sale of the ball club would be concluded "within seven days."

Frick reported the league now has possession of 4,690 of the 5,000 shares of Phils' stock and that Club President Gerry Nugent has handed in his resignation.

The league board, which will give the Phils a corporate representation pending completion of details of its sale, is composed of Frick; Louis Carroll, league counsel; Harry Traband and William E. Brandt National League officials; and Mrs Maude H. Stevens, Frick's secretary.

Pair To Fight 10-Round Battle In Madison Square Garden Tonight

By JACK MAHON

(International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Feb. 19—The youngster they said was the greatest thing that came along cauliflower alley since Joe Louis comes back to Madison Square Garden tonight to say good-bye to the fans of New York.

His name is Ray Robinson and though he is rated a 2-1 favorite over Sgt. Wilson of California, whom he will meet in a 10 round bout, there are many who feel Ray will get licked.

Lost To LaMotta

He went to Detroit a couple of weeks back to meet Jake LaMotta of the Bronx, N. Y.

He was soundly trounced, all but knocked out and suffered the first defeat of his professional career. Wilson lost to LaMotta, too.

We pick Robinson by a kayo within six rounds. If we're wrong—more power to Jackie Wilson.

M. A.-Penn State Loops May Merge

(International News Service)

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Feb. 19.—Officials of the Penn State Association and the Mid-Atlantic league were hopeful today of some merger that might permit remaining clubs of both baseball loops to operate this season.

Withdrawal of Oil City and Washington from the Penn State league was disheartening to some but failed to shake the optimism of League President Elmer Daily.

Daily said he was "hopeful" that something might develop when the two leagues meet in Pittsburgh Sunday to decide "yes or no" on playing this year

PHILADELPHIA—The Phillies had the most misplays in the senior loop last season. The Phils also had 149 double plays to tie Brooklyn for second place in twin killings.

"INDIANS" MUST WIN TO KEEP IN '21' RACE

Bessemer Triumph Lifts New Wilmington To League Championship; Game Booked In Bessemer; Wampumites Set To Shoot Works; Mt. Jackson At East Brook; Shenango Host To Union.

(Special To The News)

BESSEMER, Feb. 19.—Unprecedented interest is being evinced in the important Section 21 basketball contest to be played on the local hardwood, tonight at 8 o'clock, between Bessemer and the neighboring Wampum high "Indians".

Briefly, here are the "ifs" and "ands":

If Wampum succeeds in blasting the "Cementers", the classy "Indians" will have an opportunity to attain a deadlock for the coveted title by eradicating New Wilmington next Tuesday night.

If Bessemer upends the Wampumers, then the college town "Greyhounds" will represent the county in the coming Class B WPIAL tournament.

Wampum On Spot

The "Indians" are definitely the Johnnies-on-the-spot. Already sporting a 61-38 triumph annexed over the Bessemerites several weeks ago, Wampum fully realizes that the clash is away from home, thus pyramiding the difficulty of gaining the necessary triumph. The boys may be, as is naturally the case, a bit tight in view of the importance of the contest.

LINE-UP

Wampum.		Bessemer.
F. Bennett	F.	Kresevich
Marich	F.	List
Craine	C.	Tasota
Sawor	G.	Novad
Scala	G.	Grubisa

The red and black clad host team, on the other hand, may be on the downgrade for two reasons: first, the boys gave until it hurt the other night in their losing clash with New Wilmington, and may, as a result, lack that offensive push. Second, Kresevich's swollen ankle may help Wampum's cause.

If the Wampumites display the same brand of ball they unfurled against the Bessemer team several weeks ago, the "Indians" will come up to their next test with New Wilmington needing a triumph to bag a tie for the big top berth.

Plan "Team Game"

Reports emanating from Wampum way state emphatically that the Hennonmen have pledged themselves to play a "team game." If they do, the "Indians" will be unusually difficult to halt due to great ball handling ability, fast-breaking plays and rare speed.

Coy Craine's effectiveness, offensively, is a major "if." Anthony Marich, Frank and Guy Bennett, Sawor and Scala comprise the rest of the all-star cast.

Wampum guns for its 19th triumph in 21 clashes.

Bessemer not only seeks to avenge that recent rout but bids to relegate the neighboring quint to the eliminated bracket. Sparked by Tasota, Grubisa and List, the "Cementers" have an excellent chance of exploding Wampum's title dreams.

Jackson At Brook

On other boards, Mt. Jackson and East Brook square off on East Brook's boards. Other than the fact that the setto brings the rivals nearer to the close of the season, there is nothing of importance involved in the outcome.

Union travels to Shenango Township in another unimportant battle. The East New Castle boys are certain of finishing fourth and no higher.

New Wilmington sits on the sidelines with fingers crossed hoping that Bessemer kayoes Wampum, thus bringing to a close one of the most spirited sectional races seen here in many seasons.

Girls' Softball Loop Is Being Organized

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—Articles of incorporation for the All-American girls softball league were sought today by Phil K. Wrigley, president and owner of the Chicago Cubs, Paul Harper, Cub director and attorney, and Branch Rickey, president of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Announcement of the action was made by James T. Gallagher, Cubs' general manager who said the club was not interested officially in organizing the girls' league which will be started as a non-profit project.

Althought present plans do not call for games at Wrigley Field when the Cubs are on the road, the switch may be made later if the league develops into national prominence, Gallagher indicated. Potential players have been scouted by agents of the promoters.

Gallagher said the players would wear "dainty raiment" instead of the customary mannish suits but would not become bloomer girls.

William D. Cox, New York Lumberman, However, Believed To Be New Boss

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 19.—National league officials were still silent today on the new owners of the Phils, but admitted that all formal details of the sale have been completed.

"I honestly expect a deal will be closed within seven days, maybe sooner," Ford Frick, president of the circuit said.

Although league officials refused to divulge the name of the new owner, it was generally presumed to be William D. Cox, New York lumberman, and associates. Jack Kelly, former city democratic leader, reported he had "definitely not" received any assurance from the league. Titans To Play Tech Saturday

Goldblum, Dierken, Bennett Leave For Air Corps Following Contest

FRAY IS SCHEDULED FOR N. WILMINGTON

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Feb. 19.—Riding the crest of a wave of six straight victories, the Towering Titans of Westminster college were aiming to take Carnegie Tech in their stride when the Tartans appear on the local court Saturday night.

This will be the second meeting of the two schools this season. Westminster will be seeking revenge from the Plaid for a 46-38 defeat inflicted last month in Pittsburgh. The Tech loss was the worst the Titans have experienced this season, since both of their other defeats, by Allegheny and Duquesne, have been by two-point margins.

Warns Players

While the Titans have been moving up fast in the district title race, Coach Grover Washabaugh has warned his players not to take the Tartans lightly. They have been decisively beaten by Pitt and St. Vincent in their last two games.

Washabaugh will start freshman Tom Jones and tiny Frank O'Hara at forwards, Charley Goldblum, who will be playing his final game for the Titans, at center, and Captain Fred Miller and Ted Ossoff at guards. Two other Titan cagers, Bob Dierken and Don Bennett, also will see action for the last time Saturday before leaving for active service in the Army Air Corps.

What'll you have in sports today?

FOOTBALL? — With collegiate football almost certain to succumb, the high school brand of gridironing stands to have its greatest boom comes next fall. R. H. Gardner, learned Ne-Ca-Hi faculty manager, shares the same opinion....

Discussing the topic on the dais, RHG affirmed: "High school football should have its greatest season. Attendance may be slashed here if night football is banned. As for the type of football, the game won't be rugged, due to the younger aged youths participating. At the box office, the game should hit a new high."..'

BOXING?—Dapper Abrams, who has watched 'em all, from tankers up, likes New Castle's Russ Leasure. Here's what friend Al says about the west side athlete: "Russell Leasure, the New Castle boy, just turned pro, made a fine hit with the crowd last Tuesday night. The youngster looks as if he may go places."....

BASEBALL?—'Lefty' Paul Minner who gained national prominence as a New Wilmington cage star during his scholastic days, is closer to Uncle Sam's Army. The towering athlete, a pitcher good enough to lure the shrewd eyes of the New York Giants, goes up for the blood count within the next few days...

BASKETBALL? — The fame of Coy "Springy" Craine has spread throughout the nation. Clippings of various gazettes pitched throughout the country, chronicling the localite's illustrious point-making episode, have been sent to this department by numerous Lawrence county soldiers who ran across the items....

QUICK STUFF? — Carl Hubbell, who signed a N. Y. Giant contract for the 16th season, a few days ago, will draw down $15,000..... Maurice Tillet, better known as The Angel, is grinding out daily grub by startling female wrestling fans around Philly....

The late Jack Doyle who was referred to as Broadway's "Wizard of Odds," seldom bet. As a matter of fact, he was never known to chunk it down on any major event. ...Jim Harris, line coach for the past four years, has been named Iowa's acting head coach. Frank Carideo, ex-N. D. ace, is assistant...

Edinboro, a perennial opponent on Westminster's grid card, has discontinued basketball and probably will do the same about the pigskin game...Ty Cobb, who once lured 22,000 sneaky Japs when he exhibited his baseball skill in Tokyo, is 57-years-old.

New Castle Closes Home Card Tonight

New Brighton Opponent; John Zubkowsky, Jesse Gunn In Home Finale

Defeated 13 out of 15 times, New Castle high's quint seeks to close the home season tonight with a triumph.

In the preliminary, the red-hot New Castle Reserves face one of the Y. M. C. A. teams, starting at 7 o'clock.

Last Home Game

Towering John Zubkowsky and Jesse Gunn, both members of last season's Class AA WPIAL football championship team, play their farewell home tilt. Both are seniors.

New Castle seeks to avenge a 27-25 licking dished out by the valley representatives recently. The locals stand an excellent chance of copping their second sectional victory in nine skirmishes.

Zubkowsky	C.	Farrow
Razzano	G.	Paton

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

Ray Robinson is a two to one favorite to beat Sergeant Jackie Wilson tonight in New York but we wouldn't be surprised if Jackie surprised Ray; that is, providing he has been able to train without being handicapped by soldier duties.

Tony Lazzeri, former second baseman of the Yankees, will pilot Portsmouth of the Piedmont league again this year . . . Years ago "Jewie" Coen romped in that circuit and by the way one never sees Gus Thompson, the catcher. He made the rounds and was a pretty fair backstop.

Russell Baxter, local middleweight, went to Erie today for his final examination according to reports from cauliflower row . . . Corporal Izzy Schwartz, who actually is a sergeant in the Shenango Replacement depot, visited the writer and Tom Leach yesterday. He won the 112 title under the name Corporal.

Mike Raffa, sergeant, Ft. Knox, is through fighting with the gloves for the duration. Dolph Camilli, Brooklyn first baseman, who has threatened to retire and run his ranch this year, may change his mind if he is given a chance to succeed Leo Durocher, who will play for Uncle Sam.

Large Jap Submarine Trapped In Pacific

Spectacular Engagement When New Zealand Corvettes Blast Sub

By RICHARD TREGASKIS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

AN ADVANCED BASE IN THE SOUTH PACIFIC, Feb. 3.—(Delayed)—Details of the most spectacular submarine engagement in Solomon Islands waters to date were revealed today in an announcement disclosing that two New Zealand Corvettes had trapped a large submarine of the Japanese fleet off Cape Esperance, Guadalcanal.

The Corvettes blasted the enemy undersea craft to the surface with depth charges, then set it ablaze with gunfire. The sub was forced upon the beach at Kemimbo Bay after a 5-mile chase on the night of January 29.

The submarine, which had two sound detecting sets, evidently was carrying supplies to beleaguered Japs on Guadalcanal. Fuel drums were loaded on its deck.

The two Corvettes closed in with depth charges and forced the sub to the surface so close to themselves that they were able to train their machine guns on the craft and sweep its decks. The machine-gun blasts prevented the Japs from manning the sub's large deck gun.

The cornered vessel attempted to flee to the west as the Corvettes kept up a continuous rain of machine-gun fire against it and then set it afire with cannon blasts.

Airplanes making a reconnaissance later spotted the submarine beached. It had been gutted by the flames and most of it was under water.

Junior R.O.T.C. Drills Thursday

High School Girls Athletic Club Has Platoon Assignment Drill Session

Second drill session of what is one of the first girls' high school junior R. O. T. C.'s organized in the United States was held Thursday evening when 115 members and alumnae members of the Girls' Athletic club of the Senior high school gathered in the gymnasium of the school.

In the absence of Captain Lester McClelland, who was called out of town, permanent places in the three platoons were assigned and the girls spent 2½ hours in intensive drilling under the supervision of Miss Margaret Fischer, girls' athletic director at the Senior high school.

Non-commissioned officers will be selected after the March 4 drill. Practices are held weekly on Thursday evening.

Enthusiasm for the project is high among G. A. C. girls, who have become junior R. O. T. C. recruits nearly 100%. Several new alumnae members turned out last night and there are openings still for a few more, Miss Fischer stated.

Pipeline Dedicated At Illinois Terminal

Oil Now Flowing Through Line From Texas Oil Fields To Norris City, Ill.

(International News Service)

NORRIS CITY, Ill., Feb. 19.—The new Texas-to-Illinois pipeline, vital artery of steel through which is pulsing oil from the Texas fields for delivery to the fuel-hungry east coast, is to be dedicated today in Norris City, Ill., village of 1,300 population.

Officials of the War Emergency Pipeline corporation from Washington and Cleveland were scheduled to participate in the dedication, to take place about noon. There has been no announcement as to the nature of the ceremonies, which will be held as the first cars are loaded from tanks at the Norris City terminal for shipment to the East.

Because the pipeline is a defense project, no public program was arranged. Workmen employed on the project will not quit work for the ceremonies.

The first oil flowed through the newly completed 551-mile pipeline from Texas to Norris City last week, and was directed into an 80,000-barrel tank until the tank was filled. The oil was then shut off and will be held in the line until other tanks now in the process of installation are completed.

The oil also will be pumped directly from the line into the tank cars for eastern delivery.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

"Build for Tomorrow with your purchase of War Bonds today." Farmers are taking extra good care of their farm implements. They can't buy them today. But with War Bond savings they'll be able to buy new farm equipment when the peace comes.

Farmers are helping in the war effort by the production of food. But increased income should go into War Bonds and Savings, not scarce, high-priced consumer goods. Buy more and more War Bonds with your increased profits today. You've Done Your Bit, Now Do Your Best."

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL

Here is another way you can help the boys who are doing your fighting. Typewriters are needed . . . ships of all types need from 20 to 80 typewriters . . . the army needs typewriters for their battle stations . . . the air corps needs them too. When you sell a typewriter to the government today it goes to the army or navy and right into battle, not to a land job of some soft punk who couldn't make a living before the war started and is now depending on you taxpayers to keep him working. So if you have a typewriter around the house, it must be a fairly good one, made since 1935, just call 1057-M . . . Mr. McKenzie heads the typewriter procurement board here in Lawrence . . . Your machine will be checked and the government will have some one who knows how to handle the machine, pick it up and give you a check . . . all will be accomplished within two or three weeks . . . (portables are not acceptable at this time) . . . See if you can find a typewriter . . . You know the New Castle School board turned over 17 to the government . . . Business concerns are doing the same.

* * *

If you liked salmon or other canned fishes or meats you will have to give up that taste until after the fight is won. The American people will give up anything without any comment if the situation is explained and the need for the items or items made clear . . . But when some crack pot says something and then an investigation committee investigates for a month or so and finds something not exactly right . . . one begins to wonder what is going on . . . That is the reason friends that you can't afford to sleep today . . . you must keep awake at all times. Some say it doesn't pay to write your congressman . . . keep it up with constructive comments and you will see how much it counts. The Arm Chair Admirals who write out plans of attacks on this and that can't expect much consideration . . . Let's keep awake . . . what would happen if you lost your Freedom of Speech? Freedom of Religion? You answer that and be truthful with yourself.

It doesn't take much time to write a classified ad . . . and one of these little ads might sell a piece of furniture or some other article that you no longer need and furnish you with enough cash to buy a war bond!

Zattiero Took Part In Eleven Terrific Sea Battles With Japs

Twenty-year-old and a veteran of eleven terrific United States Naval battles with the Japanese—that is the amazing record of Alva James Zattiero, well-known and popular Ellwood City youth, spending a thirty-day leave with Mr. and Mrs. Fred McDowell, Lawrence avenue this city, with whom he has made his home for the past several years.

"I like the Navy very much and I want to get back into action. I won't feel right if I'm not sent back to do my part," he stresses often, and mostly because of the "dirty" and "cowardly" way the Japs fight.

All of the eleven clashes took place in the Pacific—Midway, Marshall Isles, Guadalcanal, Battle of the Solomons——. Censorship prevents telling much.

Finally his valient ship, a heavy cruiser, was sunk off the coast of Guadalcanal on the night of November 30 and December 1. Six torpedos were launched at the ship, two striking direct hits on the propellors Zattiero, who is a pointer for a gunner, said they knew the great battleship had been hit when it started to list. "Oil shot in the air like a geyser and soon caught afire," he tells you. The order was given to abandon the ship, and those on the rear of the boat followed the life line to the side of the ship.

Zattiero has been swimming all his life, he laughs, and learned in the Shelby Social club pool here. Before he was assigned to a ship, he practiced swimming every day because he had a feeling that he might need the practice. That hunch was right. Abandoning the ship he had to swim fifty yards to a life raft, and swimming fifty yards in churning oil-covered salt water was something that would test any swimmer. Your life hanging in the balances forces you on and on, he emphasizes.

Some two hundred sailors were in the water, all frantically getting in each other's road, all racing madly for the life rafts which were being tossed about by the tide. The Ellwood youth got on a submerged raft with fifteen others. Nine hours, the longest in his lifetime, they were in the water. "Our greatest fear was sharks," Alva remarks. Before abandoning ship, shoes are removed. The sailors were long black stockings so that the sharks will not see flesh, he tells you. "We were afraid they would smell fresh blood," he said.

Many of the survivors on life rafts were machine gunned by Japanese who then held the nearby Savo Islands. Many of the survivors were badly injured and burned, and Alva courageously gave his own lifebelt to a badly wounded shipmate "It was nothing," he said.

They could see in the darkness of the night other rafts but they were afraid to call out for fear they were Japanese.

In answer to our question "what did you think about during those hours in the darkness on the raft?", he said that his one great wish was to be rescued. He was sick from shock, and for two days after being rescued he couldn't see for the mixture of oil and salt water in his eyes.

When daylight came they were sighted by American planes which sent mosquito boats to the rescue. Talking about the P. T. boats, Zattiero declares "they sure are fast."

There were more than a thousand sailors on the cruiser and the casualties were very few, he pointed out.

They were taken to the New Hebrides, and then were returned to the States by transport. When we reached 'Frisco, we, survivors, unashamed, knelt and kissed the ground, he proudly says.

He saw the Juneau cruiser sink and the night before had been in the same port with the crew which included the five Sullivan brothers who perished together. We all ate together, the night before, he said. Also he saw the sinking of the "Hornet."

In his experinces, he has visited many of the Islands in the Pacific. If you don't smoke, drink or gamble, there's no place to spend your money, he points out.

Alva enlisted in the Navy two years ago as a musician and was given sixteen months of schooling. He was ther assigned to a 20-piece band aboard the cruiser. The musicians have warfare training also, and in time of attack, and his ship had plenty of that, he served as a pointer for a gunner on a 5-inch gun. About fifteen sailors are required to operate one of the guns.

He is a graduate of the Ellwood City High School where he was an outstanding member of the high school band only two or three years ago, and at his commencement exercises played a trombone solo. Before entering the Navy, he was employed for a short time by the Ellwood Forge company.

He tells his story quietly and modestly and dwells briefly on the horror of it all, and in meeting the enemy eleven times there has been plenty of it. He says, "Sherman was right."

He is to report on March 6 at San Francisco, Calif., for a new assignment.

Next Tuesday night, he will tell his experiences to the Kiwanis club at the weekly dinner meeting at the Lutheran church.

If we begin today, with every available resource, it will take us three years to build enough escort vessels to beat the subs. When do we start?

Rogers Reports On Meeting Of Salvage Heads In Washington

Problems Facing Salvage Collection Programs In 1943 Discussed

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 19.—Russel Schill, chairman of the local Industrial Center organization (ICO) for industrial salvage today, announced that O. C. Rogers, regional chief of the Industrial Salvage branch, War Production board, returned from Washington yesterday, where he attended a conference of regional chiefs devoted to outlining program, policy and special methods of handling industrial salvage projects in 1943. Industrial salvage must produce a very large percent of the scrap necessary to keep America's steel mills, copper and aluminum plants at peak war operation during the year.

Copper scrap, the regional chiefs learned from Hamilton W. Wright, chief of the Industrial Salvage branch, WPB, which brought the conference together, is the number one industrial salvage problem for 1943. Iron and steel scrap collection cannot be neglected, however, the regional chiefs learned at the Washington meeting from Paul C. Cabot, director of the Salvage division, because 13 million tons of iron and steel scrap will be required by the nation's steel mills in the first half of 1943. Dormant scrap must fill a large part of this need, Mr. Cabot said.

The Washington meeting of regional chiefs was held on February 16th, and 17th, for Eastern Regional Salvage managers and on February 18th and 19th, for Western Regional Salvage chiefs. The regional chiefs heard explanation of the objectives, methods, operation of fieldmen and the system of reporting progress in the vertical projects of the Industrial Salvage branch, which cover railroads, petroleum, mining, public utilities, chemicals and motor transportation industries. Similar information was conveyed concerning the government's own industrial salvage program, ccvering shipyards, army and navy governmental agencies. The place of the steel mill and the steel warehouse industry in the promotion of the collection of dormant iron and steel scrap was also discussed at the conference. A preview of an important motion picture, showing industrial salvage methods, was shown to the regional chiefs in Washington.
